VESSEL HAS RESERVE POWER

Wireless Message From Mrs. Potter Palmer Gives Glowing Account of Enthusiasm of All Passengers on Board—Carries 3,000 Souls.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The most important ocean race in transatlantic steaming is nearing a spectacular finish. The turbine-driven Lusitania, in which is incarnated the British resolve to win back from Germany the blue ribbon of the seas, was nearly abeam Nantucket lightship tonight. A wireless message to the Associated Press from the Lusitania filed about one p. m., todays says:

"S. S. Lusitania via Halifax, N. S., September 12. The 24-hour run ending at noon today was 583 miles, the record run for the trip. A record crossing is now assured. We are now 481 miles from Sandy Hook where we should arrive early tomorrow morning, under five days for the entire trip. In spite of the speed at which the vessel is traveling the vibration is not excessive. The owners and designers of the Lusitania are delighted with her performance. The ship has not been pushed and has not been strained for the record. Her supremacy came naturally. All on board are well."

Message From Mrs. Palmer.

The following wireless message has been received from Mrs. Potter Palmer on board the Lusitania:

"On Board the Lusitania, Sept. 12, 1 p. m.—Through the Post I send greetings to all my friends in the United States. All well on board. Am delighted to be home again—home, I say, although we are 569 miles east of Sandy Hook, but cutting through the water at such a remarkable rate that it will not be long now before we see the shores of our country again.

I have had an enjoyable time in Europe, but there is no place like America, after all. There is splendid company aboard and everyone is enthusiastic over the run we are making.

A Delightful Trip.

It is the most delightful trip I have ever experienced upon the Atlantic, and we all hope that it will be a record-breaker for speed. I am charmed with the vessel; it is a marvel for speed and for comfort. The luxurious modern hotels are not more homelike. This ocean greyhound, as it were, with big open fireplaces and all its admirable fittings, revolutionizes ocean travel.

Today we passed close to the great German liner Amerika. The passengers crowded to the rail and we cheered her from our vessel and those upon the other boat waved back and cheered to us. It was an inspiring sight.

We are all so confident in the wonders of the Lusitania that we believe that this trip will shorten the distance between the two continents to four days. And we have every reason to think that when we arrive at Sandy Hook we will have established a precedent for ocean travel.

The captain himself cannot be more enthusiastic than the passengers. Every one hopes that the time will be not more than four days and a half. Every hour we are leaving the miles of water behind us, furrowlike as far as the eye can see over the broad expanse astern.

It is certainly a wonder voyage, and wonderful, too, that this message will precede us from the decks of this fairly flying steamer.

MORE RIOTING AT FRISCO

Police Attacked by Mob While Arresting Carman Who Had Insulted Ladies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Another scene of riot was staged at the Twenty-fourth and Kansas street car barns last night following the arrest of William A. Bruce, a nonunion car man, on complaint of two young women that he had annoyed them by a remark as they passed. Bruce resisted arrest and was severely clubbed. The police allege that they were thereupon attacked by a number of nonunion men. A riot squad of 25 patrolmen came up and in the fight a score of heads were broken by the clubs of the police and a number of arrests were made. Eventually the nonunion men were driven back into the car barn. The police claim that the car man who started the row is an ex-convict.

IS ADJUDGED SANE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—John McClair, who broke out of the county hospital last week and was later found wandering in the hills between here and Divide by the sheriff's officers, was brought to trial for insanity in the county court today and released. There were nine witnesses for the state, but McClair's own evidence was sufficient to convince the court in his favor.

WILL LOOK FOR CORNSTALKS

No One Held Responsible for Shooting of Miss Calloway.

DENVER, Sept. 12.—The coroner's inquest held over the body of Miss Edna Calloway, the 19-year-old Kansas City girl who was killed last night by the accidental discharge of a revolver, developed that her fiancee, W. Lyle Alderson, also of Kansas City, was not responsible for her death. W. W. Ellis, son of the man at whose home Miss Calloway was a guest, testified that he held the automatic revolver when it was discharged, the bullet causing the young woman's death.

The jury decided that the killing was entirely accidental and did not recommend any disposition of young Ellis. The district attorney was present at the hearing, but gave no indication of any intention to hold Ellis for trial.

CONTINUES NAYLOR'S CASE

Assistant Secretary of Mine Owners to Be Tried September 17.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—The case of the People vs. H. A. Naylor, assistant secretary for the Mine Owners association, who was arrested last week on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, was called in the county court today and continued until Tuesday, September 17, by Judge Stephenson on account of the illness of Attorney E. J. Boughton for the association.

HOLDS UP FRANCHISE

CHICAGO MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS IN BAD MUDDLE.

Chairman of Light Committee Complains of Unjust Criticism by Press and Public.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—At a special session of the city council this afternoon called for the specific purpose of taking action upon a proposed extension of the Chicago Telephone company's franchise, Alderman L. H. Young, chairman of the gas, oil and electric light committee of the council, declined to call the subject up. He said:

"On September 3 our committee presented a report to the city council. The report is based on decisions reached by the committee in its 20 months of toil and it was my idea that the ordinance presented was a fair and just one. It was my purpose to have that put it on its passage, but in view of the unfair and unjust criticism of this ordinance in the public press and by citizens, I concluded that the people should have an opportunity to study the ordinance and to pass on its merits. For that reason I did not call it up for consideration by the council today."

The next regular meeting of the council will occur on September 23. In the meantime, on September 17, the popular vote on the new charter for the city of Chicago will be held. In the event of the adoption of the charter the question of extension of franchise to the telephone company will have to be submitted to a referendum vote under a provision of the charter governing public utilities.

TO BOOM LA FOLLETTE

WISCONSIN SENATOR HAS PRESIDENTIAL HOPES.

State Fair at Milwaukee Will Be Chosen as Fitting Time to Fly Political Kite.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 12.—It is expected that the La Follette presidential boom will shine forth in full splendor at the state fair this week. Politics, both state and national, are the feature of this meet, which opened here today. Beginning tomorrow state politicians from all over Wisconsin will commence to arrive, and by Wednesday, which is state day, it is expected that every man who has an ambition or is willing to take office will be here to look after his interests.

Senator Robert M. La Follette is expected here during the week. His coming here will probably be the signal for definite action in regards to his presidential boom. Up to this time all his attention has been centered in organizing the various counties in the state. In various parts of Wisconsin county La Follette clubs have been formed, the purpose being to further the boomlet for president. While an effort has been made to make it appear that this sentiment has been spontaneous, yet it is plain that it has been carefully directed from La Follette's home city, Madison. At each of these county meetings resolutions have been passed stating that in the opinion of the members La Follette is the best man in the country to take up the work begun by Roosevelt and the state is therefore urged to send La Follette delegates to the national Republican convention.

Senator Isaac Stephenson also is coming to the fair. He never misses one, and, with the political bee buzzing for a longer term, could not be kept away this year. When Mr. Stephenson was elected senator to succeed John C. Spooner last June he announced that he only wanted to serve the unexpired term of two years. The politicians thought he meant just what he said, but since his election and before he has even taken his seat the announcement has gone forth from his friends that he will not object to another term.

VETERANS DIES OF EXPOSURE

100 G. A. R. Men Succumb to Hardship of March in Rain.

NATIVES RUINED AND PILLAGED

NEED OF RIGID REGULATIONS

F. H. Gammel of Department of Interior Relates Horrible Practices of Adventurers Among Simple Natives Who Are Snared Into Vice and Crime.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 12.—Rigid enforcement of the law and more officials are required at once to stop outrages by settlers against the natives in the Cook Inlet and Sushitna river districts of Alaska."

F. H. Gammel, special agent of the department of the interior, said this on his arrival in Spokane from a three months' stay in the northland, where, as a representative of the bureau of education, he established schools for the natives. He said that the demoralization of the natives by the use of liquor and their illtreatment at the hands of the settlers are matters for immediate action, adding that while under the influence of intoxicants the natives are robbed of their furs and other belongings.

"There are so many things to tell about," Mr. Gammel said. "It would fill a book to relate all I have seen and heard in the last few months. One incident which shows the need of more officers to enforce the laws occurred at Illanna, an inland village, the people of which have lived apart from the white man as much as possible, and have always been known as industrious and peaceable.

Make Vile Liquor.

"Of late a few white men have mingled among them and taught them to make hooch, a vile liquor of flour and sugar. They are becoming so demoralized that they are neglecting their fishing and hunting, as they are drunk just as soon as they are able to purchase the flour and sugar in amounts necessary to manufacture the brew.

"Four white fishermen who spend their winters at the village were instrumental in bringing the natives to their present condition. One of them, who is known as 'Big Alec,' is living with a native woman. One evening they gathered at his house, after finishing distilling their 'hooch,' and, not satisfied with drinking it themselves, they sent word to another house in the village, to the chief's sister, who acted as nurse for the village, and told her that Little Annie, Big Alec's wife, was sick and needed her.

"True to her calling, the woman waded through the snow to the cabin in hopes that she might be of some benefit to the sick woman. Upon reaching the house she was forced to drink this intoxicating liquor. When she found that her assistance was not needed she started for home. But she was not allowed to go. She was given more liquor, and when her people came to get her they would not let her go.

Killed by Bad Whisky.

"At 8 o'clock in the morning her son came to take her home, and the four men threatened to shoot him should he return again. In the morning the woman was found dead by the side of one of these men.

"The native village was aroused and was kept in subjection only by threats of shooting should any one cause any disturbance. The chief, Goo-ma-Rhetora, who is a good leader, at once went to the coast in hopes that he might find an officer on a passing ship who would listen to his story and assist in getting redress for the crime committed. For three months he camped on the beach, then he grew discouraged and went home.

"These four men are at the village now, and nothing has been done to punish them for their crime. The marshal has been seen, and the story told to him. He has promised to report to Judge Wickersham and it is believed that he will see that justice is meted out to these criminals. I have since seen Judge Wickersham and he has promised that deputies will be sent to arrest the men and bring them before the court to answer for their offences."

REDMEN CLOSE SESSION

Several Important Questions Remain Unsettled for Present.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 12.—The great council of the Improved Order of Redmen adjourned sine die today, deferring to the next session at Bridgeport, Conn., the question of reducing the appropriation to the official organ, the reduction of state representation and the question of increasing the per capita tax, three questions over which the order is divided.

MAKES PERFECT SCORE

SPOKANE, Sept. 12.—Fred Gilbert, the champion trap shot of the world, broke 100 targets straight today under most trying conditions. He also broke the ground record of the Spokane Rod and Gun club by making a run of 123 without a miss. The record was made in the third and last day's session of the Pacific Coast handicap. The shooting was done in a driving rain.

BRIBERY CASE IN COURT

Actions Against United Railroads Officials Commence.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The first of the bribery cases against officials of the United railroads was brought to trial today before Superior Judge Lawlor when Tirey L. Ford, the corporation chief counsel, faced the indictment which charges him with bribing Supervisor Thomas F. Lonergan in the sum of $5,000 to vote for the franchise under which the United Railroads street car system in San Francisco was changed from cable to trolley in the period immediately following the great fire.

At the forenoon session Richard Herring, a planing mill owner and Edward W. Bender, a publisher of law books, were accepted as jurors, subject to peremptory challenge.

WILL LOOK FOR CORNSTACKS

Pure Food Expert Will Analyze Breakfast Foods.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 12.—Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust has sent to Professor Frear of the state college one of the leading pure food experts of the country samples of 15 brands of breakfast and other patent foods for analysis. Professor Frear will ascertain if they are true to the name, if chemicals have been used, whether they are bleached and what they contain. It has been charged that cornstalks are used in some of the patent foods.

TO PROBE LAND FRAUDS

SPECIAL GRAND JURY CALLED IN IDAHO.

Serious Charges Against Attorney Ruick on Methods Used in Getting Indictments.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 12.—Judge Dietrich in the federal court this morning issued an order for a special grand jury to appear on Thursday, September 19. The order was issued at the instance of Judge C. M. Burch, special assistant attorney general of the United States, who is here for the purpose of inquiring into matters in connection with the Idaho land frauds. Owing to the statement by Judge Dietrich that no grand jury would be called for this term, the order created great surprise.

It is understood here that the order was really the result of a plea in abatement filed by the attorneys for Frank [illegible] United States Senator Borah and others, which plea make serious and sensational charges of misconduct on the part of United States Attorney Ruick. These charges are that Ruick used force and coercion in securing the indictment of Borah and his fellow defendants and are supported by the affidavits of three of the grand jurymen. They set forth that Ruick argued the case before the jury and presented indictments in blank which he insisted the jurors should sign before he would leave the room. Similar affidavits are to be presented by other members of the recent grand jury according to the attorneys in the case.

SHIFTING OF SOLDIERS

THREE REGIMENTS TO RETURN FROM PHILIPPINES.

Others Will Fill Their Places and Many Changes Will Be Made in Home Ports and Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—According to orders issued today by Acting Secretary of War Oliver, the following military dispositions will be made within the next four months. The Fourth, Fourteenth and Twenty-third infantry regiments and the First cavalry will return from the Philippines and their places will be filled by the Second, Eighth and Twenty-fourth infantry and the Third cavalry.

Another paragraph of the order relieves the Twenty-second infantry from duty at Fort McDowell and the Presidio, at Monterey, Cal., July 1, when they are ordered to Alaska, taking station at Fort William H. Seward, Fort Liscum, Fort Egbert, Fort Gibbon, Fort St. Michael and Fort Davis. They will relieve at those places the Tenth infantry, which is ordered to take station at Fort Benjamin Harrison, probably constituting the nucleus of the new brigade post at that point.

The Nineteenth infantry battalion at Fort Reno, Okla., is ordered to Fort MacKenzie, Wyo., March 1, to relieve at that point the battalion of the Fourth infantry, which is ordered to the Philippines. Fort Reno, Okla., will then be placed in charge of caretakers and ultimately will be abandoned.

J. F. WELBORN RESIGNS

President of Executive Committee C. F. and I. Is Out.

DENVER, Sept. 12.—Announcement was made here today that J. F. Welborn has resigned as president and member of the executive committee of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company and that a meeting of the directors will be held this week for the purpose of naming his successor. It is not stated whether Mr. Welborn will remain with the company or not.

FRISCO HAS NEW CHIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The board of police commissioners today elected W. J. Biggy chief of police. Biggy served a short time as chief of police under Mayor Phelan several years ago. For the past nine months Biggy has been an aliser of the superior court acting as custodian of Abraham Ruef, an important factor in the boodle graft case.

PLAN MONSTER COAL MERGER

TRUST TO BE FORMED WITH CONTROL OUTPUT.

THIRTY CONCERNS INVOLVED

WILL CONTROL MINES WORTH $12,000,000.

TO CORRAL ENTIRE OUTPUT

Practically Every Coal Mine of Importance in Illinois and Indiana Will Be Placed Under One Gigantic Company of Eastern Capitalists.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—A gigantic combine, which will merge coal mines valued at $12,000,000 and bring together under one consolidated company more than 30 of the richest mines of Illinois and Indiana, is in process of formation.

The merger will include 25 mines of the Danville and Clinton districts in Illinois and the properties of the Kelly, Oak Hill and Dering mining companies in Indiana. George T. Buckingham, an attorney, and William M. Bridgett, an investment broker of Danville, are conducting the necessary negotiations. W. S. Bogle, a large coal dealer of Chicago, has gone east to arrange the financing of the proposition. He is expected to return to Chicago tomorrow and before the end of the week the deal probably will be consummated.

Official Corroboration.

Official corroboration of the contemplated merger was given by Mr. Buckingham and Mr. Bridgett in Danville yesterday.

One result of the combine will be, it is said, the complete domination of the Chicago market by the consolidated concern. All the land involved is in line with Chicago markets. The output of the Kelly and Dering mines comes almost exclusively to Chicago. The fact that the mines have direct transportation to this city and that they are nearer than any other coal fields will enable the corporation, it is said, to put its coal into Chicago at 30 cents less a ton than any competitors.

Practically every coal mine of consequence in the great coal belt of eastern Illinois and western Indiana is involved in the merger. All the principal mines of the district have been bought up by the large corporations. The Kelly mines represent six ripples, the Dering 15 and the Oak Hill six, a total of 27.

Several Deals Closed.

Mr. Buckingham and Mr. Bridgett originally closed the deals by which the Kelly property passed into the hands of John R. Walsh, W. B. McKinley and others, four years ago. Later the interests were sold to John R. Dering of Chicago, B. R. Hammond of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railway and the Shirkies of Terre Haute, who are the largest mine owners in the Clinton district.

These deals threw the mines of the Danville and Clinton districts under one management. The absorption of the Dering and Oak Hill properties will complete the consolidation of the big interests of the coal region. Each step in this series of deals, it is pointed out, has been one nearer the centralization of all the coal interests west of Pittsburg.

All the mines involved are in good condition. The railroad facilities are unexcelled. There is scarcely a mine which is not accessible to the tracks of several lines. The new John R. Walsh road will pass close to all the mines of the Illinois district.

READY FOR ROOSEVELT'S TRIP

President Will Sail on Lilly Down Mississippi River on Inspection Tour.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—General MacKenzie, chief of engineers, has practically completed arrangements for the trip down the Mississippi river of President Roosevelt and the inland waterway commission next month. It is probable that the president will travel on a special boat and that the commission will be accommodated on another craft. It has been decided to house the commission on the [illegible] which is the boat employed by the Mississippi river commission on its regular tours of inspection. The lighthouse tender Lilly has been assigned for the exclusive use of the president and his party, which will be made up of Assistant Secretary Latta, secret service men and representatives of the press associations. The Lilly is under orders to await the president at Keokuk, Ia., on the 20th instant, though probably the presidential party will not arrive there from Canton before October 1.

FINDS INFANT'S BODY

New Light Thrown on McDuffie Murder Case.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 12.—Excitement following the arrest yesterday of A. W. McDuffie, freight agent of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad, was intensified today by the finding of the body of the infant whose murder is charged against McDuffie. The body, partially eaten by rats, was found concealed in the Southwestern freight depot. The mother, a divorced woman prominently connected, says McDuffie is the father of the child, and that he took it from her two hours after its birth. McDuffie says he is a victim of circumstances and is not guilty of the crime with which he is charged.

KANSAS SHOWS SPEED

Ship on Trial Is Satisfactory to Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The battleship Kansas, sister ship to the Vermont, has just completed her speed trials and, while her record is slightly below that of her sister ship and a trifle below the 18-knot speed which the ship was required to make in her acceptance trial several months ago, it is said at the navy department that her record is entirely satisfactory. Captain Southerland, president of the trial board on board of the ship, reported to the navy department today by wireless, via Provincetown, Mass., as follows:

"Kansas finished successful steaming and gun trials. The average speed for four hours, with full power, was 17.31 knots, and for 24 hours endurance trial, 17.02 knots."

SECURE SCIENTIFIC DATA

Professor Jagger Returns From Aleutian Islands.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 12.—The technology expedition sent out to gather scientific data in the western Aleutian islands by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and which sailed from Seattle on May 30 last, returned today and Professor E. A. Jagger, leader of the expedition, says the results secured are of great value.

"The work of the party," said Professor Jagger, "consisted in the exploration of all the islands of the Aleutian chain from Unimak Pass to Atkha."

A PIED PIPER WANTED

RATS IN 'FRISCO RESPONSIBLE FOR CARRYING PLAGUE.

Board of Health Offers Ten Cents Per Head for Every Rodent Killed and Delivered to Police Officers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The board of health, at a meeting this evening, discussed further measures for plague eradication and adopted resolutions as follows:

Offering a bounty of 10 cents on every rat caught in the city and county of San Francisco and properly delivered to the police officers.

Directing that no quarantine be established upon any building or dwelling from which a plague patient or suspect is taken except during the brief period of fumigation. The objects of this order as stated by the board are to prevent round scares and the temptation of inmates to secrete to avoid close detention. The mayor, members of the board of supervisors and President Ophuls and Dr. McConey of the health board, today visited the city and county hospital and the site of the proposed isolation hospital. As no plague cases have originated at the city and county hospital since August 27, the quarantine there is to be raised.

Dr. Rupert Blue of the United States marine hospital service arrived here today from Washington and will at once assume charge of the situation.

To date there have been 23 cases of plague and 12 deaths.

GAVE LOOT TO NEGRESS

DEFAULTING CLERK CAPTURED ON RIVER BANK.

Turned Thousands Over to Black Woman, Who Invested Money in Real Estate.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—Charles E. Letton, chief clerk in the office of the First district tax collector here, who disappeared two days ago, leaving a shortage of over $600,000, was discovered this afternoon standing on the bank of the Mississippi, attempting to summon up courage to jump in the water and commit suicide. He said he had started toward the water several times but each time his courage had failed him. He made a full confession.

The man who saw Letton standing on the river bank reported his discovery to the police, and when the officers arrived they found Letton seated under an umbrella reading an account of his defalcation in a morning paper. Letton said, when carried before the inspector of police and the grand jury, that he had spent the greater part of the money he had taken on a negro woman who lives in a handsomely furnished house in the old French quarter of the city, and who is said to have bought considerable quantities of real estate. Letton says the greater part of the money he had given her had been invested in realty; only a comparatively small amount being devoted to her living expenses.

According to the last estimate made as to Letton's shortage, he was about $107,000 short in his accounts when he disappeared two days ago. During the two days he said he had been hiding in the weeds along the river while the police of half a dozen southern cities were searching for him.

Virginia Reed, the negress in the case, was arrested today and held as a witness. An attempt will be made to indict her as a principal in the defalcation. Her will, a copy of which was obtained today, shows that she had made provision to give much of the stolen money to a church and to an orphanage. Letton had $3 cents in his possession when arrested.

SELLS EIGHT MINING CLAIMS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—A mining deed was filed in the office of the clerk and recorder today, transferring eight claims in the Woodland Park mining district from J. A. Unglaub of Colorado Springs to the Big Ten Mining and Milling company of this city. The consideration [illegible]

WHITE LABORERS SHOW DISLIKE FOR ORIENTALS.

Yellow Men in Vancouver Display Ugly Temper and Two Are Mobbed for Assault on White Child—Police Barely Preserve Order.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The following telegram, dated today, is the only one received by Sir Wilfrid Laurier from the mayor of Vancouver:

"At a special meeting of the council the following resolution was passed:

"'Please assure his excellency that the disturbance, which occasioned some damage to property, but none to person, is being kept under control by an efficient police, backed by a strong public sentiment. The disturbances were directed against Asiatics generally rather than against Japanese. The offenders who were apprehended, numbering 20, are before the courts of justice.'"

Japanese Are Confident.

TOKIO, Sept. 12.—The Nichi Nichi in its editorial leader this morning expressed full confidence in the Canadian authorities to extend whatever protection is necessary to assure the treaty rights of the Japanese.

In its leader the Nichi Nichi says: "It is reassuring to know that the Canadian and English press are unanimously condemning the Vancouver outbreak, and it is hoped and believed that and justice will be meted out.

"Should the Canadian government in this instance find a solution of the problem which would serve as a model and example in dealing with the same problem in the Pacific coast states of the United States, it would be a case of fortune snatched out of misteries.

"Let us hope that this expectation will be realized and that permanent tranquillity will be assured along the coasts of the ocean bearing the name of peace."

Do Not Want Asiatics.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12.—A subscription started by Mayor Bethune was raised today to charter a special train in which 944 Hindus who came on board the Monteagle will be shipped to Ottawa as an emphatic protest against existing immigration laws and a hint that Ottawa may have all the Asiatics it wants.

The mayor of Vancouver has warned the captain of the steamer Monteagle, which has on board 114 Japanese, 149 Chinamen and 944 Hindus, that he would be unable to guarantee a safe landing there, because the unionists have expressed their determination to resist the immigration of any more Asiatic laborers.

The steamship authorities feared to assume the risk and the vessel has been turned back to Victoria, where the Asiatics will be landed.

Mob Chases Chinamen.

There was somewhat of a sensation here today, which shows the temper of the yellow man. Two Chinamen were walking on one of the main streets and caught sight of a white baby sitting on a doorstep. The made a dash for it, snatched it up and threw it into the center of the street, which was busy on account of the many vehicles passing at the time.

It fell among the horses' feet, and people wondered how it escaped being killed. There was a hue and cry, and a very angry crowd followed the Chinamen, who had a good start and managed to escape. The fact that no arrests have been made as a result of this outrage has not improved the temper of the people.

The city council has passed a law forbidding a wrestling match which was to have taken place tomorrow between a white man and a Japanese, the entire Japanese colony had purchased tickets for the bout and it was feared there would be trouble.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Consul General Nosse had no fresh advices from Vancouver today. He is sure things have quieted down. B. G. McPherson, M. P., of Vancouver, received a telegram today from A. W. Nonhe of Vancouver in regard to the expected arrival of more Japanese. He sent this reply:

"Your telegram received in regard to landing of further Japanese. Negotiations are going on as rapidly as possible, and I believe will end with an amicable settlement. Riots and disorders only prejudice our case; we can not succeed by negotiation if the present riot feeling is not going to help matters. Would strongly advise giving authorities here full time to work out satisfactory solution. It is imperative, in the interests of peaceable and satisfactory settlement, that no further riots or disorders should take place. Rest assured that the government is doing your [illegible]

FIFTEEN TIGERS OUT

SOME PROMISING MATERIAL AMONG NEW MEN.

Last Year's Players Have Not Donned Their Togs Yet—Morgan May Leave.

Besides renewing several signatures from Washburn field, the squad of 15 Tiger candidates which appeared yesterday afternoon for the second football practice went through a rather strenuous hour's work in running formations up and down the length of the field.

Only one of last year's "C" men has as yet appeared, for practice, Cort, who played right end. Most of the men who have been expected to don the tiger uniforms are members of the entering freshman class, although a few of last year's second team men have answered the call for help.

The new men appear husky and full of possibilities. The squad gives promise of developing some stars, as there are several men who come to college with high school records of more or less brilliance. It is expected that all of the old men will be out for practice by next week, but several have not as yet returned to college.

Campus rumor had it yesterday that "Fat" Morgan will attend the University of Colorado this fall. While the big center will go to Boulder this morning, those in authority say that he is simply leaving for a short visit, and that he will return within a few days to join the squad on Washburn field.

Plans for the placing of college athletics upon a firmer business basis were discussed yesterday afternoon at a conference between members of the faculty committee and student representatives. The question of faculty control of the finances was one of the propositions considered, but it is understood that no radical departure will be made from the present system under which student managers are elected for each of the teams. The representatives at the meeting were: President Slocum, Dean Parsons, Dean Cajori, Professor Armstrong, Captain Lennox, Managers McCreery, Smith and Roberts, and former Captain Hedblom.

Five candidates for quarter have appeared on the squad. They are: Macdonald, Buckingham, Pullman, Morris and Lee. For half and fullback positions have appeared Brown, Wilson, Work, Carey, Sargeant and Morrell. In the line, the following men were out for practice yesterday: Haight and Gibbs, tackles; Hamilton, guard; Gipe, center; Clark, Swanson and Cort, ends.

Cutler academy had a squad of half a dozen men out practicing on the green in front of the academy building. On the High school field, Captain Dick Morrison was in charge of a large squad of prospective state champions.

STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED

Fountain Robbers Got More Than Ten Dozen Razors.

More than 10 dozen razors, part of the plunder stolen from the Fountain store of the Houston Lumber company by two Austrians several months ago, have been recovered through the efforts of the sheriff's office of this city, and were brought to Colorado Springs from Pawnee, Okla., yesterday morning.

After robbing the hardware store, the Austrians went to Lamar, where they were arrested. After part of the stolen goods had been recovered, Undersheriff George Dayton of this city learned that the thieves had sent the remainder, addressed to themselves, at Pawnee. He informed Sheriff Thomas of Prowers county of the discovery, and the merchandise was returned to Thomas by the railroad on which the goods had been consigned. Sheriff Thomas brought the razors to this city yesterday.

The two Austrians are in jail in Lamar on a charge of highway robbery.

DAVIS IN THE FINALS

SPRINGS MAN MAKES FINE SHOWING AT DENVER.

May Land State Golf Championship Today—Walter Fairbanks Falls Down.

H. B. Davis of the Town and Gown club will meet F. W. McCartney of the Denver Country club in the finals for the state golf championship on the links of the Denver Country club today. They will play a 36-hole match, 18 holes in the morning and the same number in the afternoon. Davis yesterday won his semi-final match from J. F. Adams, three up and two to play.

Walter Fairbanks, whose defeat in the first round furnished the big surprise of the tournament, was responsible for a greater surprise yesterday, when he lost the semi-finals for the Solace cup to Carl Brown on the nineteenth hole. The latter meets M. A. McLaughlin in the finals today.

For the Tenderfoot cup, H. W. Moon and R. B. Sullivan of Denver play in the finals today, while for the Colorado cup, E. J. Hughes and John W. Way are the contestants.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

DETROIT WINS TWO.

DETROIT, Sept. 12.—Detroit won the first game of a double-header today in 13 innings, 3 to 2. Donovan was pitching great ball. The second was called because of darkness, the score being a tie and Berger losing a well-earned victory on a passed ball that let in a run. One spectator was taken out of the stand dying, and expired on the spot. A section of the center field fence collapsed, and 50 rail birds were thrown to the ground, but none injured. Score:

OLD REMEDIES

From Forest and Stream.

Two of the ills to which outdoor men and women are susceptible just now are the effects of sunburn and ivy poison. Either one is exceedingly unpleasant, and while all sorts of lotions are recommended, few allay the acute suffering of the first few days. Two of these, however, are recommended. Both are old-time remedies of known value. There are those who claim that a generous anointment of the skin with vaseline before exposure to the sun will prevent excessive burning, and this is no doubt true. Fair persons, however, do not really realize the extent of the burning until too late. They should then anoint their blistered arms and necks with olive oil, applying it frequently until the inflammation disappears. This is merely equal parts of linseed oil and lime water, obtainable at any apothecary shop. Care should be taken lest the clothing absorb the oil, for it is very difficult to remove it, once it has dried in linen or other fabrics. For ivy poison use tincture grindelia (grindelia robusta), also obtainable anywhere. Bathe the affected parts in hot water, avoiding the use of soap, then dry them without rubbing and apply the tincture frequently until the tiny blisters are dried up. Soap helps to spread the poison. Hot water relieves the itching and also prevents excessive sloughing.

GOD IS THE BASIC PRINCIPLE

Mrs. Sue Harper Mims Gives Interesting Lecture on Christian Science. House Packed.

Christian Science and its meaning was explained last night to an audience that filled the Opera house to its capacity by Mrs. Sue Harper Mims, of Atlanta, Ga. Not only did she make clear the main theories upon which the religion is based but also paid a high tribute to Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science.

Mrs. Mims, who is one of the most prominent of the Christian Science lecturers, is a member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ at Boston. Her presentation of the principles underlying the religion was well received by the audience of 1,500 Christian Scientists and their friends.

She was introduced by Judge Septimus J. Hanna, of this city, himself one of the leading Christian Science lecturers of this country. In his introduction he said:

Judge Hanna Speaks.

Ladies and Gentlemen—It is a teaching of Christian Science that, socially and sectionally, there is no east, no west, no north, no south. All are children of one Father and constitute a common brotherhood.

I think it was the venerable Robert Collier, who, introducing a Boston woman to a public audience, facetiously remarked that so proud was she of having been born in Boston she persistently refused to be born again. Not so she who is to address us this evening. Although born and reared in the southern section of our beloved country, she was not only willing, but glad to be born again—when she had learned somewhat of the meaning of the new birth. Here let me say a word as to the Christian Science conception of the new birth. It is not that we must die to be born again; rather that it is possible now and here to commence being born again.

"The new birth in Science is not a work of a moment; but it begins with moments and passes into years—moments of surrender to God, of childlike trust and joyful adoption of good; moments of self-abnegation, self-consecration, heaven-born hope and spiritual love. Time may commence, but it can not complete the new birth—eternity does this—for progress is the law of infinity."—New Birth and Immortality, Pan. 4, C. S.

When our sister awakened to this sense of herself and her relation to God she at once took a stand for her new-born convictions. She began to preach the gospel and heal the sick. For more than 20 years she has been engaged in this evangelistic work. For upwards of seven years she has proclaimed her new convictions from many platforms in nearly every part of this country and the Canadas. Nor does her love for and zeal in behalf of the cause to which she has consecrated her life wane; rather does it increase with the passing years.

A Divine Inspiration.

It is needless for me to remind you of what it meant for a woman born and reared as she was to become a public advocate of a religious movement which, 20 years ago, was looked upon with suspicion and distrust because it was misunderstood, and which brought upon its adherents the scorn and ridicule of many honest people. Nothing but deep and profound conviction, nothing short of an impulsion above and beyond herself, nay, may I not plainly say, nothing less than a divine power, would have enabled her to go forth and battle against prejudice and misapprehension or have sustained and upheld her therein.

Pardon this seemingly personal allusion, but I deeply feel that what I have said only faintly registers our appreciation of a labor at once so brave and noble and self-sacrificing.

I now have the great pleasure of introducing to you, as the lecturer of the evening, Mrs. Sue Harper Mims of Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Mims' Lecture.

Mrs. Mims then delivered her lecture on "Christian Science." In part, she said:

Could be as impossible to tell the all of Christian Science, its teachings and infinite meaning, in one brief hour as it would be to count the stars in illimitable space or to number the waves on the shore of limitless ocean. This Science of infinity whose principle is God, this Science of God's eternal laws of goodness, health, happiness, prosperity, perfection, omnipresent and omnipotent, whose phenomena constitute the reality of being. This is not because Christian Science is complex—it is the human mind in which complexities seem to exist. Truth or Science and its manifestations are ever grand, sublime and simple, the "path of holiness is always as plain and simple that the wayfaring man, though a fool, can not err therein." God, Spirit, Good, Soul, Life, Truth, Love, Omniscience, Omnipresence, Omnipotence, Supreme Incorporeal Being or Mind—this God of Christianity, of the orthodox church, of evangelical religion, is also the God of Christian Science.

Mrs. Eddy, in "Science and Health," tells us that "God is to be adored, understood and demonstrated." This intelligent recognition of an application of this God, eternal truth, as the power and presence that "heals our diseases and blots out our iniquities" is the basis of the practical Christianity of Christian Science that is today leavening thought, uplifting, redeeming and healing humanity. To know this God is not only "health to thy bones," as the psalmist declares, but "is eternal life." Let us pause a moment and see how to "know this God is eternal life."

Thought Aroused to Think.

In the divine metaphysics of Christian Science words and their root definitions are of sublime and sacred import and every proposition is based on the statement of what God is. Through Christian Science the human thought is aroused to think intelligently, practically and logically about God. In your dictionaries you will find that Principle, Substance, Spirit, Soul, are all defined as essential essence of all things, or reality as distinct from changing physical phenomena.

Christian Science has also brought to the awakening consciousness of humanity the power of true thought or the spiritual idea—Christ Ideal held in consciousness. Now, give that accepting this definition of Substance or Spirit of God as the essential essence of all reality—we get a glimpse of the glorious fact that man and the universe as image and reflection of this Substance must be indestructible and eternal, incorruptible. It was this understanding that enabled Jesus and Peter and Paul and the early Christians to raise the dead—and this changeless God, or infinite substance, is the same now and even. Jesus' life work shows that this abiding sense of God is attained by following him in the footsteps—or demonstrating the healing power of this understanding of God—annulling the false sense of perishable, ephemeral material phenomena or substance. "The whole creation groaneth and travaileth together until now, unwilling under this law of corruption, waiting for the manifestation of the sons of God; that is, the redemption of the body." Rom. viii.

The hour has come when the scientific understanding of divine law must manifest the power of truth over error, of the immortal sense over false material perishable sense.

If consciousness were permeated with this sense of God, as the incorruptible Substance of all that exists, it would be impossible to die and we would recognize our own individual immortality as well as our rights to fadeless roses and deathless stars.

God Is Truth.

The scriptures also declare that God is our life, without beginning and ending—eternal, omnipresent, omnipotent. That God also is Truth—and to know this Truth is to be free. Jesus said ye shall know the Truth and the Truth shall make you free, free from sin, from a false and limited sense of Substance, Life and Mind.

God also is Love, as the Apostle John declares, and Love is Life and Truth, for God is one; one, triune God and to inherit eternal life this love must be manifested in love to God and Man. Man and universe are Love expressed.

We are also admonished to have that Mind that was also in Christ Jesus—the one Mind—Supreme Intelligence; that is, God, Life and Love. The life and works of Jesus show us that this Mind, enthroned in consciousness, was, and is, forever the destroyer of all evil—illusions—the lies of materialism.

The aim of Christian Science then is (can there be a nobler?) to strive for the attainment of that Mind, that spiritual attitude in the divine thought of what God is and of man's relation to that God as the manifestor or witness of the divine character, power, attributes; this will and does enable the disciple to fulfill the demands of Christ Jesus, to repeat the much needed healing works of early and primitive Christianity. They are not discouraged that in a few years the ultimate splendor has not been attained, but they do rejoice that many steps in the path of the divine life have been taken, that much has been overcome and destroyed, and with St. Paul they may say: "I count not myself to have apprehended," but I press toward the mark of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Phil. iii:12-16.

A Grand Revival

Christian Science does not come as a new sect to rend again the sacred garments of Christ, but it comes as the grandest revival that ever stirred the human heart, the revival of the primitive Christianity of Christ Jesus with the "signs following" in accordance with Jesus' command: "Go ye into all the world, preach the gospel to every creature. Heal the sick, cast out devils, raise the dead. If ye believe in me, the works that I do shall ye do also."

While the heart overflows with gratitude and love in contemplating Jesus' transcendent life, Jesus taught that the understanding of it should be practical to us; he did not do our work for us, but taught us how to work out our own salvation. We should follow him in his steps of overcoming, atoning in our own experiences for our sins, and for the sins of the world, working out our atonement with divine love, God, eternal Truth and Life. Jesus the sinless one, seeing in prophetic vision that the absolute transcendentalism of his words and works would need centuries to become universally understood; that another Comforter must come, said: "The night cometh when no man can work, but when the Comforter is come, even the Spirit of Truth, he will lead into all Truth, he will testify of Me." He will take of mine and show it unto you. This hour is here and now, another era has come for the world, when wisdom wedding in indissoluble union Science and Christianity, ushers in the spiritual law of Christian Science. Religious Truth is converged in one systematized and perfect whole, the science of harmonious and celestial Being. The dove, of divine understanding that bore witness to Jesus is no longer a wanderer, but abides now and ever in consciousness, with healing in its wings.

Was Set Apart.

Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, was endowed from childhood with great spirituality, strange and sudden deliverances from peril, and divine intuitions, showing that she was set apart for a peculiar and holy mission, being led in many strange ways to learn the "deep things of God." Hungering and thirsting after righteousness, in one grand moment, on the verge of the grave, God revealed Himself to her as the one All-inclusive Mind, the Mind of Christ, the only Cause and Creator, and all creation as divinely mental phenomena. She saw the Allness of Mind, and the consequent unreality of matter; this suddenly restored her to health, strength and life; the Scriptures were illumined; she remembered the holy prophets and the triumphs of Jesus over material conditions. She longed to know the rule, the Principle, the Science of their works. Withdrawing from society, studying deeply, prayerfully the holy Scriptures in illumined vision, she saw that the so-called miracles of the Bible were not violations of law, but natural demonstrations of an eternal, universal Principle of health, holiness, harmony, immortality, for all men, all times and ages. Her resulting thought crystallized in her book, "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures." Mystery vanishes in the teachings of this book, for the Science of God interprets His Son. Nothing but the Comforter, whom God sends can interpret this wonder and glory of the world, the Christ manifest in the flesh. In prophetic vision, Jesus seeing the correlation of science with his life and works, said: "The kingdom of heaven is like unto a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and cast into his garden, and it grew and waxed a great tree, and the fowls of the air lodged in the branches of it."

"The kingdom of Heaven is like unto the leaven which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened."

Truth a Mighty Tree.

The Truth taught and demonstrated by Jesus has been a mighty tree, in whose branches the aspirations of the human heart have found rest and shelter, and the Comforter whom he sends is the Science that testifies and explains him, and is the divine leaven working in all modes of human thought, leavening all consciousness, and bringing the kingdom on earth as he prayed it might do.

Mrs. Eddy says the "human mind sees what it believes, and believes what it sees." "Science and Health." Drummond finally illustrates this same thought in his wonderful book, "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." "A mole, a bird, and man are equally denizens of the earth; the mole grovels in the ground and recognizes only its earthly confines; the bird soars above the level of the earth in the freedom of the upper air, soaring in the blue ether, singing in the joy of the sunlight and the green boughs of the trees. Man, in the largeness of vision, looks beyond the birds' horizon and pierces the infinite; to him splendor on splendor unveils itself in the illimitable realm of Mind; the same grandeur and beauty exist for all; it is a question of concept, of appropriation, of apprehending. Paul said: "I strive that I may apprehend," and he refers to the grand culmination when "we shall see even as we are seen, and know even as we are known." When we shall see God's ideal man, instead of our own, poor sense of man. He also expressed the thought: "As in Adam (the material or dust concept of man) all die; so in the Christ (the immaculate, spiritual, true concept of man) all are made alive."

Standpoint of Spirit.

Jesus viewed man from the standpoint of Spirit, not matter, Soul, not sense, and that is the secret of Jesus, and of Christian Science. He came, as we are told in the Scriptures, "to judge not after the seeing of the eye, nor the hearing of the ear, but to judge righteous judgment." The very basis of Christianity is Faith, which the apostle describes as "The substance of things hoped for." Now, faith is a mental condition, yet it is substance, cause, causation, it is the evidence of things not seen, or better, the conviction of unseen realities. Paul tells us of the wonders wrought by this mental condition. The dead were raised, the lame, the maimed, were restored, the mouth of lions were stopped, fire was quenched, victories were won, the walls of Jericho fell down. Elijah was translated that he should not see death.

Now, remember that you can have this mental condition as well as Jesus, Peter and Paul, and the ancient worthies, and it should and will bring about the same results; it is a universal law of cause and effect. But in order to do this, you must deny the physical or visible evidence, and steadily, persistently, hold on to what you do not see.

This is Christianity in its eternal, primitive purity, perfection and power. This is what Jesus and Peter, and Paul, and the ancient prophets did, they held on in thought to the unseen, eternal verities of being, inspite of, and in reversal of material evidence, and in that consists the sublimity and simplicity of their methods and works.

If we will follow Jesus' reversals or denials of material evidence, and look up to God, the infinite, instead of to the ground as the Source of Good, we will find it all here in Mind. In the wilderness of mortal fear and doubt the table is spread, the waters flow from the rock, the Red sea is parted for us. Our limitations are the result of our false doubts and false education. We must move and have our being and find the Infinite Good.

In Way of Divine Life.

Beginning with the simple triumphs over the false evidence of sickness and sin, rebuking the fever, cleansing the leper, Jesus took one step in the way of divine Life in a corresponding scale of demonstration, healing every manner of disease and sin without drugs or hypnotism, but by the power of eternal Truth, saying to every form of error, God does not know you, for he is omnipotent Good, the only Cause and Maker. Therefore, you are neither wonderful, great, or Principle, therefore you are unreal, an illusion of the human mind. He applied this [illegible] every human condition, giving the multitude he knew that Mind made the harvest, not matter. He [illegible] communing in the true source of supply for each and all, the true Love, impartial in his gifts. To know [illegible] hath tell, and unless [illegible] material struggle. Life and [illegible] God, not in nor from it [illegible].

Jesus had a different view of Life, Substance, Truth, [illegible] from sure, hence his transcendent [illegible]. Life to him was God, [illegible] or ending the errors of Mind, he raised the dead. He [illegible] one could not see death [illegible]. The overcoming trials of the demonstrations over death show [illegible] how he resisted the testimony of the personal senses. Let us see first the little maid who had just died to the material sense, Jesus saw the silent form and heard the sounds of wailing, but he turned away from it and his spiritual sense caught the rhythm of the deathless sphere, and saw the undying child of spiritual Being; then he said, "She is not dead, she sleepeth," and the materialism of that day laughed him to scorn.

Spirit Bore Witness.

Meeting the young man on the way to the burial, when his tender compassion caused him to again meet, conquer and overcome the material sense of things, the Spirit again bore witness that God is the eternal Life of man. Then Lazarus, dead four days, of whom also it is said: "He sleeps, I go to awake him," with the evidence of corruption and decay, yet He swerved not, but cried out, "Lazarus, come forth," and he stepped forth, witnessing again the indestructibility of Life. Jesus steadily refused to admit the reality of death.

Mrs. Eddy tells us very simply how Jesus healed. ("Science and Health," pages 476-82): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to Him where sinning, mortal man appears to us. In this perfect man the Savior saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick. Thus Jesus taught that the Kingdom of Heaven is intact, universal, and man pure and holy."

Theological vicarious atonement stops at Calvary. Scientific atonement is attained at the ascension. This struggle and attainment atonement with God was and is the only truly and completely scientific event of all human history; it stands the one divine achievement and fact toward which all development tends and points. "I pray that they may be one as we are one."

Because Jesus understood Spirit to be true substance, the essential essence of all things, and matter was but a belief, Jesus could hide in the multitude, walk over the water, pass through the closed doors, as he stood unannounced in the midst of his disciples, and these leading steps enabled him to show his body perfect after the resurrection, for scientific Christianity will finally know that even this human body need not see corruption, but that it may be changed, transfigured. "Be ye transfigured by the renewing of your minds."

MOFFAT ROAD TO BE COMPLETED.

UNLESS David H. Moffat has actually made the financial arrangements necessary to complete the Denver & Northwestern Railroad from its present terminus to Salt Lake City, it is hardly likely that he would indulge in such enthusiastic expressions as are attributed to him by the interviewers. Mr. Moffat is quoted as saying that "there is not a single obstacle remaining to the speedy completion of the road." The money which has been denied him so long through the influence of the opposition railroads, especially the Harriman lines, has at last been obtained in Salt Lake City, principally from Jesse Knight and the Mormon Church. If it is true, as Mr. Moffat is quoted as declaring, that the Mormon Church has decided to back the enterprise, there is little doubt that the new through line from Denver to Salt Lake City is at last to become a realty and not a mere dream, for the Church is a financial factor of no mean proportions.

Several years ago, when Mr. Moffat announced his plan to build a new railroad between Denver and Salt Lake City, shortening the distance by several hours and opening up a vast tract of virgin country in the northwestern part of this state, it excited unbounded enthusiasm, for the value of the road to the state was apparent at a glance. But when only a small portion of the total distance had been completed the available funds were exhausted and the promoters found it impossible to raise more in the East because of the opposition of rival interests. Operations have been at a standstill for more than a year, and it had almost begun to look as if the Moffat Road was destined to run from Denver to nowhere and end there. There is no part of the state which possesses greater possibilities of development than the one to be traversed by this line, and as it will have the entire field to itself, big profits are in store for the men who put it through successfully. Its completion will be of vast benefit to the entire state, and also to Utah, and it is earnestly to be hoped that Mr. Moffat's optimism at this time is justified.

THE FUTURE LUMBER SUPPLY.

A GOOD illustration of the indifferent attitude which the public assumes toward the forestry question, and which is almost invariably based on ignorance, is given in an editorial which appeared a few days ago in the Fort Worth Telegram. Under the head, "The Gloomy Forester," that paper comments on what it calls the pessimism which pervades the Government Forest Service, as shown by the repeated warnings of impending timber shortage which have been made by officials of that bureau. The Telegram then quotes some very significant figures showing that at the present rate of cutting the supply of pine timber in the South and in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota will be entirely exhausted long before the second growth will be available for commercial purposes. It adds: "No one ever seems to be affected by these figures, which is probably because the only people very much interested in lumber are the lumbermen themselves, and they care only to turn pine into dollars."

So the only people very much interested in lumber are the lumbermen themselves, are they? What about the man who builds a house? We do not have to go away from Colorado Springs to get light on this subject. This city has enjoyed a healthy growth for several years, but how many houses have been built since the end of the building boom of 1900 and 1901? Very few indeed. There is and has been considerable activity in the sale of dwelling houses, but there is almost none in unimproved realty.

The reason for this is the excessive cost of building under present conditions. The cost of building material, especially lumber, has advanced at such a prodigious rate that every modern house in Colorado Springs which was built as much as five years ago is worth more today than it was then. The city is growing fast enough, but the new population is being housed in buildings erected several years ago, and as the available supply of these is almost exhausted, it is a matter of only a short time until a great many new houses will have to be built, but just now it is far cheaper to buy than to build. If it were not for the abnormal cost of building, we would see new houses going up in every block right now. Of course, the increased cost of labor and of materials other than lumber also enters into the question, but lumber is the main item, for it has almost doubled in price within five or six years.

REASONS FOR THE ADVANCE.

The reasons given for this sharp advance in the price of every kind of lumber are various, but beyond question the principal one is the rapid exhaustion of the forests. The existence of a lumber combine undoubtedly has a great deal to do with it, and another factor is the high tariff, which shuts out an abundant supply of Canadian timber at a time when it is much needed. But when we get down to essentials, it is apparent that the rapid, and in a large degree reckless, exhaustion of our own forests is the real cause.

In 1880 the lumber cut of this country was 18 billion feet; in 1890, 24 billion feet, and in 1900, 35 billion feet. The increase in population from 1880 to 1900 was 52 per cent, but the increase in the lumber cut in that period was 94 per cent. The United States is now using annually 400 board feet of lumber per capita, while the average for Europe is only sixty feet per capita. In other words, we use about six and one-half times as much lumber per capita as Europe uses. Unquestionably a great deal of this is wasted, but if it is a fact that we really require more for proper usage, it is all the more reason why greater care should be exercised to protect the remaining timber supply.

Careful estimates by the Forest Service show that the supply of merchantable timber in the United States is now being cut three times as fast as it grows; that is, as much timber is cut in one year as is replaced by the slow process of growth in three years, and this makes no allowance for the enormous additional destruction wrought by forest fires.

NO NEW FIELDS REMAIN TO BE EXPLOITED.

As showing how hard pressed the lumbermen are to secure supplies of timber from new sources after the old ones have been exhausted, largely by their own folly, the following comment is interesting. It is from a recent bulletin of the Forest Service entitled "National Forests and the Lumber Supply":

The north woods of Maine and New York, once so prominent in the lumber activity of the nation, long ago dropped out of sight as lumber-producing regions, although the bulk of the pulpwood used in the manufacture of paper is still drawn from them. The region of the lake states, which was for many years the undisputed center of the lumber industry, gradually yielded its supremacy to the South and West. As early as 1890 lumber companies which had cut over their holdings in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, were compelled either to go out of business or to turn elsewhere for available timber. Then followed the rush to the southern pineries and the great virgin forests of the Pacific Coast. During recent years the production of lumber in the Southern pine belt has been enormous, and so great have been the inroads upon the available supply of Southern pine that it is a question of only a few years, hastened by the construction of the Panama Canal, when the great production of lumber will shift to the Pacific Coast.

The old process of exhausting the supply of timber in a region and then seeking new fields is very nearly over. Already the industry is turning back on its tracks. A quality of timber is eagerly sought in the lake states which a few years ago was passed over as utterly worthless, and certain saw mills have depended for a part of their supply upon the recovery of logs which have sunk in the waterways in process of transportation. In the South the whole pine region is being gone over in close search of the old field pine. This inferior and once despised growth of timber is now bought up at prices greatly in excess of those once paid for the magnificent timber of the virgin forests.

To anybody who has made even a superficial study of this question it is apparent that the only hope for the lumber supply of the future lies in the national forest policy now being followed by the Federal Government.

Chairman Gary, of the Steel Trust, says that "the public-be-damned policy will not go these days," and E. H. Harriman says it would be better for the corporations if they would take the public more fully into their confidence. Evidently the light is breaking.

Tip to Tourists—The best season of the year in Colorado Springs is now beginning. Stay through the fall and you'll never be content to live anywhere else.

Governor Hughes refuses to give any encouragement to the people who are booming him for the Presidency. Funny how hard some men have to work to cultivate their Presidential booms, and how hard others work to dodge them.

A LAND OF ROBBERS.

From the Springfield Republican.

Is America a civilized country or is it not? One of a party of Americans was discovered the other day in St. Paul's cathedral trying to chip off a piece of stone from one of the ornamental pillars. He "explained" that he "wanted a bit of St. Paul's to take back to America." A bit of the Old Bailey is what he ought to have. If Macaulay's Maori ever gets a chance to sit on the ruins of London, it will be because they have been kept in a glass case with a policeman on guard. Really, our national bird ought to be the jackdaw.

HEARSTISM IN SAN FRANCISCO.

From the San Francisco Call.

It is fair to inquire: What purpose has Mr. Hearst in seeking to injure and embarrass San Francisco? Why does he try to set back all honest endeavor to straighten out the distressing and damaging tangle and confusion that afflict the city as a result of five years of misrule and graft?

These questions are compelled by the malignant course of the Examiner, which lets no day pass without throwing a brick from ambush at the men who are doing their utmost to restore honest government and rehabilitate the good name of the city.

All this is done by Hearst in a sneaking and contemptible fashion, but the purpose is none the less obvious. From the hour that the graft prosecution refused to name a mayor of Hearst's dictation this cowardly policy has been uniform. Mayor Taylor was scarcely in office when the Examiner attacked him with clumsy ridicule. The malice and the motive were so little disguised that a storm of public resentment followed at once and Hearst crawled back into his hole. He had exceeded the limits of indecency.

Since that time the Examiner has let no day pass without some effort to stir up strife and embarrass the municipal administration, so painfully struggling to establish itself on a firm footing. District Attorney Langdon is daily attacked or ridiculed. Nothing that the graft prosecutors can do is right. In the lexicon of the Examiner, they'll be damned if they do and they'll be damned if they don't.

It is the same way with the politics of the city. Any sort of effort to set aside the petty personal ambition, and harmonize the whole people in the single interest of good government meets only with sneers from the Examiner. The whole policy of the paper is malignant merely and designed to harass and injure an afflicted city—all because Hearst was not permitted to name the mayor.

The evidence of this malevolent purpose and the motive are undeniable. Everything was lovely in the eyes of Hearst until the day that Mayor Taylor was appointed. He ordered his special writers to glorify Langdon in his kept monthly magazine. Nothing in the way of print was too good for the prosecution. Now mark the change since Taylor was seated.

Mr. Hearst owes much to San Francisco. The city owes him nothing but resentment for wanton injury. He is a purely destructive force, inspired by a petty personal malice, contemptible, cowardly and sneaking. That is Hearst. Look at him. He is the Michael Feeney of journalism.

ONE CITY'S CIVIC "SLUMP."

William H. Allen in the World's Work.

The people of Philadelphia who in 1906 turned against a corrupt political machine were the identical people who reinstated that machine in 1907. Judging from the progress of the rest of the world the average moral character of the voters was somewhat better in 1907 when they voted corruption in than in 1906 when they voted corruption out. The difference between Philadelphia corrupt, but contented, and Philadelphia corrupt and discontented is not one of character, but of vision of information—a concern to be bridged not by truthful training, but by information about their government. In 1906 Philadelphia was brilliantly informed about two or three dangers. Everybody could identify the shady side of the street, its pitfalls and obstructions. But in 1907 the electric searchlight gave way to a parade of flickering torches supplemented by an occasional bonfire. When election day came the rank and file found one side of the street about as dark as the other and naturally chose, since compelled to stumble, to stumble over the familiar path of party regularity.

Philadelphia's relapse could have been prevented just as the idealists of New York could have re-elected Mayor Low, and just as San Francisco can, if it takes the right steps, insure itself against the recurrence of the condition which is today making that city "the scandal of the world." No political "bosses" are needed, no moral upheaval, no quack or faith cure.

The moral upheaval in Philadelphia made no provision for keeping alive the intelligence created by the great illumination of 1906. The mayor converted knew as little as the mayor unconverted about the current acts of his subordinates and about the everyday needs of his city. The leaders of the reform party knew little more than the mayor and little more than their followers. Instead of keeping up the bonfire of intelligence and enthusiasm by adding new fuel, they tried to make a blaze out of the ashes and charred timbers of the great bonfire of the year before. No new incentive and no new information were given to the citizens who desired good government. When the mayor turned over a new leaf, and as leader of the reform army became the most highly eulogized mayor in the United States, his advisers used up their time applauding his conversion, talked about the "superiority of good motive," when once aroused, and secured the removal—not of the soil that bred disease, but of the men who profited from its spread. They did not use their opportunity to obtain a scheme for effective, cumulative publicity that would give the man in the street a basis for independent judgment and make detection of graft so certain that it would be too dangerous to practice it. Not even in the departments of health, charities and police were methods adopted to weed out the inefficiency that invites and shelters corruption. Everybody put on the Goodness button and talked about the new era of good administration in government. The tooth stopped aching—the visit to the dentist was put off. The rain ceased—who cared for holes in the roof? When the mayor relapsed the whole movement collapsed. When election day came the reformers themselves were so confused that many of them sincerely believed that there was more goodness outside reform circles than within.

Today's Horoscope

Friday, September 13, 1907.

"This day the hands that dig and those that write
Both may chance on a treasure great and bright."

The 256th day of the year; moon's age, 6 days. Mercury and Saturn are in benefic aspect with the moon.

An uncertain day for general business. Neither good or ill fortune is foretold. All is a hazard. Guard well your steps.

An auspicious period, however, for dealing in land or houses. Good for buying lumber or stone and a day of rare promise for opening new mines or prospecting, or for sinking new shafts in old mines.

If contracts have been previously drawn up, well considered and corrected, and wait only the signing hand, sign today. Write important letters or articles. Make written or printed announcements today, or new undertakings or other business for which you desire support.

A favorable day for seeking advice in the law. For advice in other matters, seek persons older than yourself between noon and sunset.

Those whose birthdate this is should mark well that across "A bright, broad road falls the shadow of battle." Let them beware of quarrels which may end in a long feud that will wreck business and social happiness.

The child born today will have to work hard for a moderate income, whether it be in business for itself or in employment. It must be trained in youth to overcome its fondness for pleasure, and a bad temper which will otherwise mar its career.

CLEARING ON GAMBRILLO'S LOP PIECE.

From the Wellington (Kan.) News.

The top of Charley Gambrillo's head looks like a quarter of cleared land with a small patch of timber on the south eighty.

CALF CHEWED THE RAG.

From the Telluride (Colo.) Journal.

In a recent letter from a friend who has spent eight delightful weeks this summer in the Katskill mountains, where the eggs are fresh, the cream and butter delicious, the landlord killed a cow last week and found therein, next to her heart, a stem winding Waterbury watch. At first he was surprised, of course, to say the least of it, but, after cogitating a bit, he remembered leaving his waist coat out in the field one day while very much occupied with agricultural duties, just seven years ago, and returning found that calf chewing the rag. The explanation is clear. The watch was ticking to beat the band and had lost just seven minutes to a dot.

TRIPLE CELEBRATION.

From the Waynesburg (Pa.) Messenger.

The birthday of Mr. William Jacobs, Mrs. J. M. Burns and Mrs. L. M. Funk occurring on the same day of the month, it has become a fixed custom for each in turn to invite the others, with a few friends, to spend the day with them. They met this year with Mr. Jacobs, Main street. To report that they had both something to eat and to say would be a mild expression, for they discussed all the topics from Vanamburg's great show at Jacktown in '65 to the Jamestown Exposition. At the close of the day they were all sober, and adjourned to meet one year from date with Mrs. J. M. Funk, Washington street.

LEMONS WITHOUT SUGAR FOR THESPIANS.

From the Walsenburg (Colo.) World.

The bunch of "Geisha" people who sang opera here Tuesday night, were about the warmest aggregation one meets up with. Mr. Allen, manager of the conglomeration, [illegible] but his ideas of amusing the public does not fit the ideas of many of our people, and from their actions we must say that legitimate show people are not benefited by this traveling horde of bacchanalians.—Alamosa Courier.

The Bostonian opera company mentioned above played in Walsenburg last week, and while we did not attend and know nothing about their conduct we do know that they played to a mighty slim house and had to square their indebtedness with promises instead of the coin of the realm. Hence printing offices and opera house management are mourning their coming.

THE TASTE FOR READING.

From "The Pleasures of Life," by Sir John Lubbock.

Of all the privileges we enjoy in this nineteenth century there is none, perhaps, for which we ought to be more thankful than for the easier access of books.

The debt we owe to books was well expressed by Richard de Bury, bishop of Durham, author of "Philobiblon," written as long ago as 1344, and the earliest English treatise on the delights of literature. "These," he says, "are the masters who instruct us without rods and ferrules, without hard words and anger, without clothes or money. If you approach them, they are not asleep; if investigating you interrogate them, they conceal nothing; if you mistake them, they never grumble; if you are ignorant, they cannot laugh at you. The library, therefore, of wisdom is more precious than all riches, and nothing that can be wished for is worthy to be compared with it. Whosoever, therefore, acknowledges himself to be zealous follower of truth, of happiness, of wisdom, of science, or even of the faith, must of necessity make himself a lover of books." But if the debt were great then, how much more now.

"He that loveth a book," says Isaac Barrow, "will never want a faithful friend, a wholesome counselor, a cheerful companion, an effectual comforter. By study, by reading, by thinking, one may innocently divert and pleasantly entertain himself, as in all weathers, so in all fortunes."

Macaulay had all that wealth and fame, rank and talent could give, yet, we are told, he derived his greatest happiness from books. Sir G. Trevelyan, in his charming biography, says that "of all the feelings which Macaulay entertained towards the great minds of bygone ages it is not for anyone except himself to speak. He has told us how his debt to them was incalculable; how they guided him to truth; how they filled his mind with noble and graceful images; how they stood by him in all vicissitudes—comforters in sorrow, nurses in sickness, companions in solitude, the old friends who are never seen with new faces; who are the same in wealth and in poverty, in glory and in obscurity. Great as were the honors and possessions which Macaulay acquired by his pen, all who knew him were well aware that the titles and rewards which he gained by his own works were as nothing in the balance compared with the pleasure he derived from the works of others."

There was no society in London so agreeable that Macaulay would have preferred it at breakfast or at dinner "to the company of Sterne or Fielding, Horace Walpole or Boswell." The love of reading which Gibbon declared he would not exchange for all the treasures of India was, in fact, with Macaulay, "a main element of happiness in one of the happiest of lives that it has ever fallen to the lot of the biographer to record."

In old days books were rare and dear. Now, on the contrary, it may be said with greater truth than ever, that

Words are things, and a small drop of ink,
Falling like dew upon a thought, produces
That which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think.

Our ancestors had a difficulty in procuring them. Our difficulty now is what to select. We must be careful what we read, and not, like the sailors of Ulysses, take bags of wind for sacks of treasure—not only lest we should even fall into error of the Greeks, and suppose that language and definitions can be instruments of investigation as well as of thought, but lest, as too often happens, we should waste time over trash.

I am sometimes disposed to think that the great readers of the next generation will be, not our lawyers and doctors, shopkeepers and manufacturers, but the laborers and mechanics. Does not this seem natural? The former work mainly with their heads, when their daily duties are over, the brain is often exhausted, and of their leisure time much must be devoted to air and exercise. The laborer and mechanic, on the contrary, besides working often for much shorter hours, have in their work time taken sufficient bodily exercise, and can therefore give any leisure they may have to reading and study.

"If," says Sir John Herschel, "I were to pray for a taste which should stand me in stead under every variety of circumstances, and be a source of happiness and cheerfulness to me through life, and a shield against its ills, however things might go amiss and the world frown upon me, it would be a taste for reading. I speak of it, of course, only as a worldly advantage, and not in the slightest degree as superseding or derogating from the higher office and surer and stronger panoply of religious principles—but as a taste, an instrument and a mode of pleasurable gratification. Give a man this taste, and the means of gratifying it, and you can hardly fail of making a happy man."

Comfort and consolation, refreshment and happiness, may indeed be found in his library by anyone "who shall bring the golden key that unlocks its silent door." A library is a true fairyland, a very palace of delight, a haven of repose from the storms and troubles of the world. Rich and poor can enjoy it equally, for here at least wealth gives no advantage. We may make a library, if we do but rightly use it, a true paradise on earth, a garden of Eden without its one drawback; for all is open to us, including, and especially, the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge, for which, we are told that our first mother sacrificed all the pleasures of paradise.

"WHITE" AND "BLACK" DAMP

From the Scranton Tribune.

It is now ascertained that the disaster in the Honey Brook, No. 1, slope of the Wilkesbarre Coal company was due to "white damp." The white damp is usually found in a mine after a fire; the black damp after an explosion.

The presence of white damp in the old abandoned workings of the Honey Brook mine puzzled the officials of the company for a time. At length it was recalled that there had been a fire in the mine at one time, when it was abandoned, and that the white damp must have remained there ever since. The white damp is a most deadly poison. Superintendent Morgan of the mine says that it was a foolish thing for the rescue parties to have persisted in entering the mine when they did. However, they could not be stopped. It is a miracle how that last party, at any rate, came out alive.

BITTER-SWEET.

(Written for The Gazette.)

A perfect rose sways on its slender stem
So fair,
Shedding its fragrance sweetly delicate
And rare—
But underneath those petals white, beware—
A jagged, sharp thorn grows.

A silvery river wends to the sea its quiet
Way;
Its ripples waters murmuring a soft lullaby;
But underneath, where those cool shadows
Lie—
A treacherous current flows.

Over mount marshes, where pale asteroids bloom,
And myrtle sprays and cypress yield their
dank perfume,
And fire-flies sparkle in the shadowy
Gloom—
A poisonous vapor blows.

A UNIQUE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Agricultural College Holds One-Day Institute for Indian Farmers.

The Ute Indians on the agency at Ignacio, Colorado, have their lands allotted to individuals and each family lives on a farm and operates it. When the institute force of the Colorado agricultural college was planning a tour in the southwestern part of the state, they were asked to hold a one-day institute for these Indian farmers.

The institute was held July 19, Hon. E. H. Grubb and Prof. H. M. Cottrell being the speakers from the Colorado agricultural college.

The institute was held in a beautiful grove on the banks of the Los Pinos river. The Indians decorated the speakers' stand with American flags, and on the table was a vase filled with columbines—the state flower.

The authorities at Washington telegraphed an order for a special issue of rations for a picnic dinner for the institute, and the Indians were given the beef from a 1,200 pound steer, 500 pounds of hard tack, 1,000 pounds of flour and all the coffee they could use. The squaws spent the morning preparing the feast, while the men attended the institute.

Surrounding the agency is one of the best farming sections of the state, and the white farmers and their families from this section were invited to attend and over 100 were present at the opening session.

A Picturesque Audience.

When the morning session was called, Chiefs Buckskin Charlie and Sevaro, Agent Werner, Superintendent Dunn, Interpreter Harry Johnson, Mr. Grubb and Prof. Cottrell occupied seats on the platform. The Indian farmers took the front seats in the audience. They were dressed in picturesque costumes of red and blue, and many wore ornamental feathers in their hair. The white farmers, with their wives and children, occupied the rear seats, the ladies and girls dressed in white. On the grass around the seats reclined the squaws with their many children. The women were dressed in red and blue and had bright colored blankets, embroidered and beaded leggings and moccasins. The young babies were suspended on their mothers' back in cradle boards, many of these boards being beautifully decorated. In and around the audience strolled Indian dogs, innumerable and perfectly at home. At the rear of the audience were tied the ponies on which the Indian men, women and children had ridden to the institute, and in thed istance was a tepee where an Indian family was camped while attend the institute.

Indian Chiefs Speak.

The opening address was made by Chief Buckskin Charlie, famous as a warrior and hunter throughout the west. He urged better farming and showed how profitable it would be for the Indians.

Chief Sevaro followed, telling the Indians how much help they could get from the college speakers, and insisting that they follow the advice given them.

Agent Werner spoke of the object of the institute, and gave information in regard to the college men.

Mr. Grubb described in plain language the best methods of preparing the soil for each of the crops grown by the Indians; showed the advantage of crop rotation, and told them simple ways of seed breeding that would largely increase the yields. His address was interpreted in Ute by Harry Johnson, and was frequently interrupted by vigorous applause, the Indians shouting in Ute "Good."

A picnic dinner followed.

Indians Advised to Raise Horses.

After the dinner, Superintendent Dunn had led out in front of the stage an Indian pony, a pair of choice Percheron mares and a good coach stallion. Prof. Cottrell showed the difference in the different types of horses before him; told the Indians that they were natural horsemen and could make money and reputation by raising good horses. He explained how to feed and handle draft colts to make them weigh the most and sell for the highest prices when matured. This address was translated into Ute and was followed with the closest attention by the Indians.

The Indians then held a council and at its close heartily thanked the college speakers and asked that when another institute was held, talks be given on proper methods of irrigating each crop and of building better houses.

The Indians then adjourned and left the grounds, and an institute was held for the white people present. Mr. Grubb made a talk on the advantages of an education for the farmers, and Prof. Cottrell showed the profits from hog raising in Colorado.

Miss Florence King, who won second prize in Prof. Olin's contest for largest yield and best quality of wheat, told the audience of her methods.

At the close of the institute, the Indians wanted to furnish entertainment for the college speakers and gave a war dance in full costume. This was followed by several exciting horse races.

PREACHES 6,000 SERMONS

A Methodist minister in Cleveland, O., Rev. O. Badgley, preached his 6,000th sermon on Sunday. It must require several barrels to cart about his stock in trade. However, the subject is rather depressing for hot weather, view it as you will. The kindly old lady said that his satanic majesty was at least amazingly industrious, and so is Rev. Mr. Bagley.

MERRILL BERNARD INJURED

Falls From Bicycle While Running at High Speed and Sustains Broken Arm.

While coasting down the Mesa road at great speed about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Merrill Bernard, the 16-year-old son of Mrs. Lola Bernard, 520 North Weber street, lost control of his bicycle and, running into a four-foot ditch, was thrown to the ground with terrific force. He fell on his right arm, sustaining a fracture near the shoulder. His right leg was also bruised and his face badly skinned. The fracture, however, is the worst injury.

Young Bernard was not rendered unconscious, and with the aid of Charles Parsons and another companion, he was placed on Parsons' bicycle and wheeled home. The three boys left this city about 9:30 o'clock, and after climbing the Mesa road, were on the way home when the accident occurred.

The boy is a chauffeur, and is a familiar figure about the city, driving his mother's big automobile.

BISHOP GRANT TO PREACH

Well-Known Colored Evangelist to Speak Tonight.

Bishop Abraham Grant, a well-known colored evangelist, will preach at Payne chapel, A. M. E. church, corner of Weber street and Pueblo avenue, this evening. Bishop Grant has just closed the conference of his church in California and will open the Colorado conference in Denver in a few days. He is at the head of the Fifth Episcopal district which includes Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Kansas, Missouri, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Alaska and British Columbia.

While in this city he will be a guest at the home of the Rev. G. M. Tillman at the A. M. E. parsonage, 230 South Wahsatch avenue.

SUFFERS PARALYSIS OF BRAIN

Mrs. Hattie A. MacMartin Stricken Without Warning—Condition Is Extremely Critical.

A mysterious sleep to which Mrs. Hattie A. MacMartin, of 617 South Tejon street, succumbed about 8:30 o'clock last Wednesday morning, has been diagnosed as apoplexy, due to sudden paralysis of the brain. The attending physician has been unable to arouse the stricken woman. Her condition was reported as critical in the extreme last night, and her recovery is doubtful.

Mrs. MacMartin is a widow and has been a resident of Colorado Springs for about 10 years. She is a sister of H. A. Scurr, a prominent real estate and insurance man of this city, and has kept house for him for many years. Her son, Harold S. MacMartin, aged 18 years, is a clerk in Mr. Scurr's office.

Without the slightest warning, Mrs. MacMartin was suddenly stricken with a fainting spell in the hall of the residence at 617 South Tejon street Wednesday. She called to the maid, who ran to her just in time to catch the falling woman in her arms. Mrs. MacMartin was placed in bed and Dr. J. T. Estill was summoned. The physician tried without success to resuscitate the sleeping woman by applying restoratives. Sleeping naturally and breathing normally, Mrs. MacMartin appeared as though merely taking a nap. The fact that she had been out of bed only an hour or two before she was attacked with the strange spell dissipated all thought that she was merely sleeping from excessive weariness, and a careful investigation of the case resulted in a verdict of paralysis of the brain.

Mrs. MacMartin has never before been seized with a malady of this nature. She has been in apparent good health for a long time, thus rendering her present illness all the more inexplicable. She is about 35 years old.

JAMES D. LIGHTBODY HERE

Well-Known Track Athlete Visiting This City.

James D. Lightbody, victor in the 1500-meter run at the Olympic games in Athens last year, is spending several days in Colorado Springs. He has been a guest at the Antlers hotel for the last week, but will probably leave within a short time for his home in Chicago.

Lightbody, who goes by the name of "Deerfoot," is one of the world's greatest performers in the mile and half-mile runs, and also has broken several records in the quarter and the longer distance events. Besides winning the 1500-meter run at Athens, he placed second in the 800-meter event, losing the race by a narrow margin. Previous to his Athens victories, he had shown his remarkable speed at the St. Louis games in 1904 and at Portland in 1905, at both of which places he won both the mile and half. He holds several records, including the Central A. A. U. marks in both the half and the mile. He also holds the Western intercollegiate conference records in the mile.

Lightbody has won most of his great races as a member of the university of Chicago team, but in many of the A. A. U. and other meets he has competed under the colors of the Chicago Athletic association.

CRASHES INTO STREET CAR

Child Knocked Senseless, but Not Badly Hurt.

Coasting on his velocipede down the East Bijou street hill, between Weber street and Wahsatch avenue, Edward Oppenheimer, the 4-year-old son of Isaac Oppenheimer, 228 North Wahsatch avenue, crashed into a passing northbound Wahsatch avenue street car about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was knocked senseless. The ambulance was called and the little fellow was taken to his home. The boy recovered consciousness shortly afterward and will probably experience no serious effects from the collision. Concussion of the brain was first feared, but the recovery of the lad indicates that he was only badly stunned.

MUSSER MAY BE ELECTED

Is in Line for Deputy Grand Mastership of Masons.

George W. Musser, of this city, warden of the Colorado Grand Lodge of Masons, will probably be elected deputy grand master at the annual grand lodge meeting in Denver next week. The officers are usually elected to the next higher position each year, thus placing Mr. Musser in line for the deputy grand mastership. George D. Kennedy, past grand master, is another prominent Colorado Springs man who will attend the meeting.

The sessions will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, and the Royal Arch chapter convenes on Thursday. The Eastern Star will meet Thursday and Friday and the grand commandery, Knights Templars, will convene Friday.

Among the Masons who will attend the sessions are: Charles F. Aldrich, Joseph G. Dern, Eugene S. Cohen, George W. Musser, Lemon Mumpuh, Fred G. Hayher, Dr. W. A. Campbell, M. F. Burrell, Andrew J. Lawson, J. P. Barnes, W. P. Woodside, George E. Bronson, M. S. Rafield and George A. Birdsall. Mrs. J. O. Henry, Mrs. Sue Denny and Mrs. Eliza Cohen will go from this city to the annual sessions of the Order of the Eastern Star.

SOPHOMORES BEAT FRESHIES

Win Four of Seven Contests First-Year Man Eats the Most Pie. The Initial Series.

Sophomores won four of the seven contests in the initial series of events to decide the annual contest between the freshmen and sophomores, which will be concluded when the classes meet on some date, might not far distant.

Last night's contests were entirely regular, being a part of the general scheme of fire outlined by the sophomore initiation committee. The sophs were held to be the winners of the Monday night contest, which was the sparring contest, while Freshman Schmidt was the victor in the three-round boxing bout.

After receiving apples and peanuts, the men visited the three women's dormitories, serenading the occupants of each.

WULFF-SULLIVAN COMPANY HAS W. C. T. U. SHOE AGENCY

The Famous White Rite shoes, which have been officially endorsed by the W. C. T. U. of America, will henceforth be sold exclusively by the Wulff-Sullivan Shoe company. This shoe is one of the most famous brands of women's shoes and Colorado Springs women will welcome the announcement that they can be purchased in this city.

Every pair of these shoes contains a COUPON GOOD FOR FIVE CENTS. When the shoes are sold the dealer removes the coupon and holds it until some one appointed by the local or state Union calls for it. These coupons are sent to the state president who stamps them and forwards them to the Farmers and Merchants bank of Lincoln, Neb., which forwards the money to the proper officials.

Remember that it will be a pleasure to wear these shoes yourself and recommend them to your friends and at the same time EVERY PAIR CONTRIBUTES FIVE CENTS TO THE W. C. T. U.

RUNAWAY GIRLS CAUGHT

Captured at New Windsor Through Reasoner's Efforts.

Mrs. Alice Ricken-Sewall, the 16-year-old child wife, who was recently sent to the State Industrial School for Girls, charged with complicity in stealing a valuable stick pin, after a sensational career in Colorado City, has "started something" in the Industrial school, according to recent developments. The girl induced Eva Baxter, another 16-year-old girl, also sentenced from this city for incorrigibility, to run away with her from the school on September 4. The two runaways were captured at New Windsor a few days ago, through the efforts of Probation Officer William Reasoner of Colorado Springs, and have been returned to the institution. They will be closely watched by the authorities of the school hereafter.

Mrs. Sewell is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ricken of New Windsor, formerly of Colorado City. The girl was married when she was 12 years old to Thomas Sewell, was deserted by him before she was 13 and was a mother on her thirteenth birthday. Her husband returned to her afterward, but again left her, taking the baby.

The young wife was arrested several weeks ago in this city on complaint of Officer Reasoner, charged with assisting in the theft of a stick pin from a north end boarding house. After she was sent to the Industrial school she became friendly with the Baxter girl, and the two escaped September 4. Mr. Reasoner received a letter from Mrs. Ricken at New Windsor a few days after the escape of the two girls, to the effect that Alice had notified her mother that she and Eva Baxter were on their way to join her at New Windsor. Reasoner notified the probation officer at that town, with the result that the two runaways were taken in charge at once on their arrival, and returned to the institution.

EARL CARPENTER CONVICTED

Sentenced to Serve Thirty Days in County Jail.

Earl Carpenter, aged 24 years, night clerk at the New York restaurant, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail by Judge Robert Kerr, in the juvenile court yesterday, on conviction of contributing to juvenile delinquency. Ralph Daniels, a 14-year-old boy, who drank whisky at Carpenter's instigation, was sentenced to the Golden Reform school, but sentence was suspended pending good behavior, and he was released on parole.

Probation Officer Reasoner, who worked up the case, is on the track of similar offenses of this kind, and it will go hard with the next offender. Carpenter told the court that this was his first offense, thus resulting in a light sentence. The maximum penalty is one year in jail and $1,000 fine.

MERCHANTS JOIN MOVEMENT

Will Co-operate With Other Organizations in Effort to Land Modern Woodmen Home.

Adding another link to the chain with which the various interests of this city are trying to draw the proposed national home of the Modern Woodmen of America to Colorado Springs, the Merchants association last night unanimously adopted a resolution binding its members to co-operate in every way with the Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate exchange and other commercial organizations in an effort to locate the home here. The information regarding the Merchants association will reach the members of the order and the great strength of the organization as a whole will be added to the movement.

Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region will be widely advertised in "The Western Times," a Chicago magazine, according to a communication read at the meeting last night. The editor of the magazine notified Secretary Frank F. Wulff that the periodical will publish reading matter and photographs in this connection and asked him to furnish for publication an article dealing with the advantages of Colorado Springs, both as a health and pleasure resort, and as a commercial city. The association will take up the matter at once, and will send a story to the magazine pointing out the splendid conditions, heavy bank deposits, street paving, with statistics of the wonderful climatic conditions of Colorado Springs. Pictures showing the streets, business blocks, handsome residences and points of scenic interest will accompany the article.

The regular monthly meeting of the association was held in the Alamo hotel last night, former President Fred S. Tucker presiding in the absence of President S. D. McCracken.

REDUCING NOISES

Mrs. Isaac L. Rice is really working a considerable reduction in the unnecessary noises of the great pleasure fleet by her society. Now Captain Ira Harris, head of the local steamboat inspection service, has ordered the discontinuance of private code whistles and forbidden the use of the sirens, with exceptions in the case of fire and police boat. The decision of Captain Harris has been approved by the department at Washington.

$100.00 REWARD

How can we make our advertising stronger, more convincing—so that we can make the New Broadway Magazine's circulation increase in leaps and bounds?

IN its fifteen months' existence, the New Broadway Magazine has acquired 150,000 circulation. This of itself is, of course, a feat remarkable in magazine publishing. But we are not at all satisfied. We are positive in our belief that we are publishing a magazine that is absolutely wanted in half a million American homes. We are sure in our own minds that all of the people in every one of these half a million homes would gladly welcome the New Broadway Magazine, if they only knew what it actually is.

How To Get The Reward

How are we going to get them to know it? That is the point we want you to tell us, and for which we offer $100 reward. It will take you only a few minutes to form an opinion and advise us what your idea is. Just read the September number of the New Broadway Magazine and write us a brief note. That is all you have to do.

Full information as to the exact conditions—they are simple and mighty easy—which we have decided upon in order to make your work easy, will be found on a special advertising page in the September number of the New Broadway Magazine.

You will find the New Broadway Magazine for September one of the most interesting publications you have ever come across in a lifetime. The following contents are illuminated with no less than 177 beautiful illustrations:

Colorado City News

Plans are being completed for the arch of welcome which will be built at First street, Colorado City, in the near future at a cost of from $1,000 to $1,500. The design has been made by George Geiger and will be submitted at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Geiger has also designed a neat button, bearing a picture of the arch which will be worn by citizens of this city.

A garland of canned fruit was received yesterday by I. N. Foote and company. The order for the fruit was given before the prices went up so the price will be lower than would otherwise have been possible.

STORE your goods. Dust-proof ware-houses. Call up C. M. Sherman.

A special meeting of the Tic Tribe No. 1, Improved Order of Red Men, will be held at Beyle's Furniture store this evening at 8 o'clock. Business of importance is to be considered and a full attendance is desired.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Nugent, wife of E. J. Nugent, street commissioner of this city, who died Wednesday, will be held from St. Mary's Catholic church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Friends of the family are invited to attend. Interment will be in Fairview cemetery.

The new Free Methodist church, which has been under course of construction for the last year, will be completed in a short time and will be dedicated about November 1.

Frederick Nicholas, who recently graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan, has accepted a position with a law firm in Denver and will take up his work at once.

Mrs. J. B. Sims, who has been visiting in Rocky Ford, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Benedict are spending the week at the State fair in Pueblo.

Bensonizer Inhalations Cure Asthma, Tuberculosis, Catarrh and Bronchitis

Tuberculosis Cured

350 Adams Street, DENVER, Colo.

Dear Sir: It was twelve years ago that I had a severe case of Pneumonia in the right lung, and, of course, left it in a very weakened condition, and it never healed. From that time on, whenever I caught cold it was troublesome and continued to get more so. I grew worse and failed in my health in many ways on account of it.

In February of 1905 I saw the advertisement of this institution, and came here in September of the same year for treatment. I was coughing and raising a good deal at that time, and had had some chills and fever before I came here. They made a thorough examination of my lungs and found there was a large accumulation of mucus that medicines had failed to reach. After six weeks of this treatment the accumulation came up more freely, and my general health was better. After three months it was entirely cleaned out.

I can honestly and safely recommend this course of treatment to anyone who is in like condition. I have now been at home in Nebraska, and without treatment, for six months, and am in good condition at the present time, as shown by an X-ray examination. Yours truly,

MRS. M. V. SHELDON

Can Work at His Trade

DENVER, Colo., February 19, 1907.

Drs. Van Hummell:

Dear Doctors—About the 1st of May, 1906, I arrived in Denver from my home in Tampa, Fla., for my health. I had had throat catarrh for about six years and had tried various means to get well, having treated with one of the best specialists in the East at my home, but did not receive any relief, but instead the disease extended, and finally affected my lungs so that I had pulmonary tuberculosis.

On the 17th day of May I heard of your treatment and decided to try it. After a thorough examination you told me that both lungs were affected, and that I was in the second stage of tuberculosis, but that I could get well by the proper treatment. I started in immediately, and after taking the treatment for five weeks all of the distressing symptoms disappeared and I felt perfectly well, but on your advice continued the treatment for two months.

Since leaving your offices I have worked at boilermaking, and have been under constant exposure, but have never had any return whatever of my trouble. When starting your treatment I weighed 135 pounds, today I weigh 156, and I know that I am as well as I ever was and feel that I am cured of the dread White Plague.

I can cordially recommend your treatment to any of those suffering in like manner, and if they start early enough and follow the directions carefully I feel sure that you can cure them. Wishing you the best of success, I am yours very truly, 2913 Walnut Street. SAMUEL P. STEWART.

Minister Cured

Three Years Ago While Living at Colorado Springs.

Study of the United Brethren in Christ Church,
912 South Water Street,
DENVER, Colo., July 6, 1907.

Drs. Van Hummell:

Dear Doctor—It gives me great pleasure to say that after nearly four years' experience I am well, and a great friend of the Bensonizer.

To my mind it is the greatest remedy of the age for tuberculosis, and when taken in time will surely bring the much-coveted result.

My sister, Miss Ethel Smith of Hawkins, Mich., who took the treatment at the same time that I did, made me a visit two weeks ago, and after two years in that rigorous Eastern climate she is in good health. The best move that we ever made in the way of health was when we took the Bensonizer Cure and cleansed the system of the most insidious of all diseases—tuberculosis.

Trusting that you will be as successful in every case as with my sister and myself, I am very truly yours. REV. O. A. SMITH.

Asthma Cured

210 South Indiana Street, Boyle Heights, LOS ANGELES, Cal., February 10, 1907.

Drs. Van Hummell:

Six years ago, while living in Council Bluffs, Iowa, I was suffering severely with chronic nasal catarrh and the doctors operated on my head and removed some polypus from my nose, and soon thereafter I began to choke up and have asthma. This horrible disease drove me to California, the doctors saying that in a warmer climate I would not suffer from asthma. I came here five years ago, but found little or no relief, and gradually grew much worse, trying all kinds of remedies and different doctors until the last year I was in constant distress and unable to work at my trade. This fall, when the wet weather began, I was in horrible condition and my lung began to fill up. My family physician told my wife that I was past help, and I got so that I could not sleep nor eat and coughed terribly. Could not lie down in bed at all for fear of choking to death. This was my condition when I went to 625 West Sixteenth street. Upon examination your specialist told me he could positively cure me and could give me immediate relief. He gave me one inhalation and told me to come back in the afternoon and get two more treatments, and I would sleep that night. I could not walk alone at this time, but with my wife's help I got to your office, and that night I slept, and ever since I have had no trouble, and in a week's time the doctor said I could go to work. And for the past month I have worked at building my house harder than I have ever worked, and remain perfectly well. All this has been done since December 19, 1906. Hoping to help other miserable, suffering humanity to guide them to this wonderful cure prompts me to write this. Send them all to me and let them see for themselves what you have done for me. Truly yours,

FRED F. PETERSON.

I was a ONE-LUNGER and ASTHMATIC for 6 long miserable years. Left so by two severe attacks of typhoid pneumonia, which left my right lung solid. I had the best medical talent in Philadelphia, my home. I paid these doctors $2,500 and then I hunted health resorts from the Atlantic to the Pacific, gradually working my way to the grave. I finally landed in Los Angeles over a year ago. Here last December I found the BENSONIZER INHALING CURE, and today I am as well as any man in the world; have gained 41 pounds in flesh and work hard every day, breathe natural, eat and sleep splendidly, no cough, and 11 pounds heavier than ever before. Glad to talk to anyone after 6 p. m. at my home, 1337 Maple avenue. Truly yours,

J. FRANK SMEDLEY.

These Inhalations Cure

tuberculosis and hundred diseases, including Asthma, Bronchitis and Catarrh, to stay cured. No one need have any fear of returning home, no matter where he lives, once you have recovered your health through this method of cure, which is undoubtedly the greatest medical discovery of the age, enabling us to make permanent cures. It is done by feeding the lungs by inhalation with a carefully prepared balmy oil, which has incorporated in it a combination of germicide chemicals which kill the tubercle bacilli, and the oil soothes and heals the affected parts, resulting in a complete cure of every patient in the first or second stages of the disease.

Bear in mind that this is not a PROMISE, but a CURE. Read what is being done with the Great White Plague by the Bensonizer Inhalations here in your midst. These remarkable cures are being made every day of the week at 24 North Nevada, Colorado Springs. OFFICE HOURS, 8 to 4 and 6 to 8.

RECEPTION FOR WILCOX

Will Be Held Tonight at First M. E. Church.

A reception of welcome for the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Wilcox, who has returned to the First Methodist church of this city for another year, will be held in the church this evening. Short addresses will be made by representatives of the different organizations of the church. O. E. Collins will deliver the address for the Brotherhood of St. Paul, Mrs. Proudfoot will speak for the Ladies' Aid society, A. J. Yeomans for the Epworth league, Carl Balcomb for the Intermediate league, Worth Lightner for the Junior league, and William Reasoner for the official board. Music will be furnished by the Misses Manning who will render a violin and piano duet, and Dr. Rufus M. Bagg, who will sing a tenor solo. All members of the church and friends are invited to attend. Members of the Brotherhood of St. Paul are especially urged to be present.

THE ALBANY HOTEL.

There is no place in the entire city of Denver where you can meet as many Coloradoans as you can at the Albany, where, during the morning, afternoon or evening, you will find men of affairs sitting about the rotunda, or enjoying a quiet rest in the rotunda parlor, and at the same time listening to the beautiful strains of music which are being rendered by the famous Bohemian orchestra.

In the Gentlemen's Grill, in Bohemia or in the ladies' and gentlemen's cafe, you will find a little coterie of men talking over the affairs of the state, perhaps politics, perhaps mining. On the opposite side of the room you will find another little group of men talking about sugar beets, perhaps Greeley potatoes, or discussing the wonderful resources of the great Arkansas valley, listening to this same Bohemia orchestra and enjoying a course dinner.

Why the Albany is popular, why another addition is necessitated, why more dining room space is demanded? One wonders and asks himself, why?

Stop and think. The Albany is in the very heart of Denver; the house is conducted on a broad gauge policy; the wants of its patrons are anticipated; the price charged in all departments of the house are on a basis much lower than other hotels of its class.

The fact is, the Albany is in a class all by itself. No other hotel in Denver has the many attractive features which go to make one feel at home, as though the Albany belonged to oneself.

The new addition to the Albany, which will be started early in the fall, will contain many features quite new to Colorado people—features which will make the Albany even more homelike and comfortable than it is today.

Two very unique cosmopolitan dining rooms will be added, patterned on the order of the famous Bohemia.

You have heard of Bohemia. Do you know what Bohemia really is? It is the most unique cafe in the west.

Where you will meet the men and women of Denver who enjoy the Bohemia style of life; where you will meet men identified with all the great and growing industries of the great and growing west; where you will find ladies enjoying an after matinee luncheon or an after-the-theater course dinner, and with this meal enjoying a small bottle of rare old vintage.

The Bohemia is unique and peculiar in all that applies to a cafe; just this much ought to bring you to Bohemia, at least to look it over. It is so different from the average cafe. Everyone feels at home and everyone has the feeling that Bohemia belong to himself or herself individually, and there is not a moment but what there is something interesting.

Every attendant in Bohemia is alert to make every course, whether expensive or inexpensive, perfect in every particular.

Then there is the Grill, for gentlemen only, where you may get your steak or your chop sizzling, and your ale or beer drawn from the wood, and again the service—you may spend 40c or 75c—more if you like, or less—the service is the same.

After an evening spent in Bohemia you retire with nothing but pleasant dreams of the Bohemia, the Albany, and Denver.

LAURA BROCKWAY CONVICTED

Will Be Sent Where She Can Trouble Police no More Hudson Case Nolled.

Laura Brockway, colored, was convicted of assault with intent rob, by a jury in the district court yesterday, after only eight minutes' deliberation. Sentence was deferred. The penalty is from one to 14 years, and because of the fact that the prisoner has been a constant source of trouble to the authorities, owing to numerous disturbances and other misdemeanors, she will probably receive a heavy sentence. A similar charge in connection with the same offense against Corrine Hudson, also colored, was nolled by the district attorney. The Hudson girl was apparently not to blame for the assault and testified against the Brockway woman during the trial yesterday.

Laura Brockway was found guilty of assault on J. A. Crosby, aged 88 years, of 612 Sierra Madre street. The Brockway woman and Corrine Hudson met Crosby in an alley near his home several months ago, and the Brockway woman asked him for 10 cents. Infuriated because he refused to give it to her, she wrested a cane from him and struck him over the head with it. Crosby reported the case to the police and the two women were arrested the next morning after several hours' search by Chief Reynolds and his men.

District Attorney C. C. Hamlin and Deputy O. E. Collins prosecuted the case yesterday. Laura Brockway, while in the county jail awaiting trial several days ago, wrote a letter to the Hudson girl, threatening to kill her and commit suicide, if she testified against the writer. The letter was intercepted by the jailer.

Good Shoes Help a Good Cause

"White Ribbon" TRADE MARK REGISTERED

THE NEW STYLE FOR WOMEN

"OFFICIALLY INDORSED"

The White Ribbon Shoe

would fall utterly in its mission if it were not a good shoe in every particular. The purpose of its maker is to make a shoe that every W. C. T. U. woman can conscientiously recommend to all her friends. It is a practical shoe, built on common-sense lines to meet every day needs—a high grade shoe at a moderate price. They are made in all styles and all kinds of leather—light or heavy, high or low. Every W.C.T.U. worker who has tried them has had a good word to say.

Tired women with tired feet want easy, flexible-soled shoes like this

Here is a letter from Boston, a city renowned for its shoes. The Vice Pres. of the Mass. State W.C.T.U. writes as follows:

Massachusetts W.C.T.U.
13 Beacon St., Boston, Mass., Jan. 17, 1907.

I am ready to sing the praises of your goods—the best fitting and most comfortable boots I ever had on my feet—and gladly recommend them to all of our White Ribboners, for a comfortable boot is about the best friend one can have. I did not believe I could have a shoe that would be easy, but am certain you have hit it, and I am very happy and grateful.

HARRIETTE D. WALKER.

From the wife of a shoe dealer in Nebraska comes this hearty endorsement:

Nebraska State Sunday School Association
Loveland, Col., Dec. 21, 1906.

The handsome "White Ribbon Shoes" were duly received. I think they are beauties and a perfect fit, too. Mr. Wheelock has sold shoes for years and is a much better judge of quality of shoes than I am. He said emphatically: "That's a fine shoe—a splendid shoe"—so I know it is.

Very sincerely yours,
DORA V. WHEELOCK,
Ex-Pres. Nebr. W.C.T.U.

Now, every one of these good-looking, comfortable shoes contains a coupon as indicated in the illustration, good for 5 cents. When the shoes are sold, the dealer removes the coupon and holds it until someone appointed by the local or State Union calls for it. These coupons are sent to the State President, who stamps them and forwards them to the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Lincoln, Neb., where the money is forwarded to the proper officials.

Remember it will be a pleasure to wear these shoes yourself and recommend them to your friends, and at the same time every pair contributes 5 cents to the W.C.T.U.

BIG GUNS IN HARMONY

FISH AND HARRIMAN BURY THE HATCHET.

Harahan Presides Over Meeting in Which Former Belligerents Are Mild as Doves.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—No breach of the peace occurred yesterday at the meeting of the board of directors of the Illinois Central Railroad company. Stuyvesant Fish, whose berserker rage was vented upon James T. Harahan, president of the company, at a previous meeting, was as mild as a dove.

E. H. Harriman, to whom Mr. Fish is said to have referred as "a shrimp," was among the earliest arrivals, and Mr. Harahan presided with all the unctuous grace of a Methodist bishop convening the foreign mission society.

Mr. Fish took little or no active part in the proceedings, but the personal manner of Mr. Fish, Mr. Harahan and Mr. Harriman toward one another was almost offensively polite throughout the session, which lasted from 11:30 until after 3 o'clock.

Mr. Harahan read a long report embodying all the information demanded by Mr. Fish. Its reading consumed an hour. Mr. Harahan denied that changes such as had been hinted at, had been made in the division of through rates, or the routing of freight as between the Illinois Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad.

Mr. Harahan's report, after being read by the secretary, was ordered filed, in order that it may be printed, after which copies are to be supplied to all directors. No other action was taken, and when Mr. Fish, after the meeting, was asked whether Mr. Harahan's rejoinder had been satisfactory to him, he replied only:

"I have nothing whatever to say."

During the meeting Mr. Fish made no comment whatever on the document either favorable or critical.

NO TROUBLE WITH JAPS

Nick Longworth Says Hawaii Has No Race War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Speaking upon behalf of his wife and himself, Congressman Longworth, who has returned from Honolulu, described their tour of the islands as being most delightful, although devoid of any particular features. He heard no word indicating any possible trouble with the Japanese on the islands. Referring to rumors regarding Roosevelt, he said he did not think the president ever entertained a thought of a third term. The Longworths expect to remain here until Saturday, when they will go direct to Cincinnati.

COAL FOR FLEET

More Than Quarter Million Tons for Pacific Voyage.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Two hundred and fifty-three thousand tons of coal, exclusive of that to be shipped in government colliers, will be required to get the Atlantic battleship fleet to the Pacific coast and properly coal it at Mare Island, according to the estimates made by the equipment bureau of the navy department, which has called for proposals for supplying the necessary fuel. Of this aggregate, 133,000 tons are semibituminous and the remainder Welsh coal. The former is to be shipped from Atlantic ports in vessels either of American or foreign register, according to the terms.

TO DEMAND EXPLANATION

Nebraska Commission Will Question Burlington Railway Men.

LINCOLN, Sept. 12.—The state railway commission this morning received a letter from General Freight Agent Spens of the Burlington, in which he admits advising the Burlington agents in Nebraska to refuse to submit reports to the state railway commission and to send them to his office in Omaha. The railway commission law permits the state officials to question local agents concerning the amount of business. An explanation will be demanded of the Burlington.

FORCED TO CUT RATES

Leyland Line Steamer Sails Without a Passenger.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Following the recent reduction in rates by the Cunard and White Star lines, the Leyland line today announced a cut in its cabin prices between Boston and Liverpool. The rate is reduced from $70 to $50.

The Canadian sailed yesterday under the old rate without a single passenger, and the officials of the line today decided that they must meet the cut made by the other lines.

AUTO KILLS AND MAIMS

Bank President Dead and Physician Badly Injured.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 12.—President John Bennett of the Metropolitan National bank of this city is dead and Dr. M. C. Cameron, a prominent physician of this city, is seriously injured as a result of the latter's automobile coming into collision with a telegraph pole late today. The men were running at a good rate of speed when the steering gear broke and Dr. Cameron lost control of the machine.

UNITED STATES GUNNERS EXCEL

The publication recently of the fact that during target practice on the British channel fleet, in the presence of King Edward, one gun made 19 hits in 21 shots, thereby earning a decoration from the king, has naturally touched the pride of some of the American naval officers. They have looked into the records of the American gun pointers during the annual target practice just closed, and have found no reason to fear a comparison with the gunners of any other navy. From the number of shots fired, it is assumed that the British gun was not more than six inches in diameter and probably less. Taking some of the six-inch guns of the Atlantic fleet, one gunner on the armored cruiser Maryland made 11 shots and 11 hits in one minute. A gun on the battleship Ohio was fired with a perfect score at the rate of 16.81 per minute. A six-inch gun on the battleship Maine has a record of perfect scores at the rate of 16.41 per minute, and the battleship Missouri's best record was 19.30 shots per minute, each lodged in a target.

But in the way of small guns, these six-inch records became insignificant. A three-pounder on the battleship Virginia made 20 shots and twenty hits in 75 seconds, and another gun made ten shots and ten hits in 22½ seconds, a remarkable average of 26.67 shots and hits per minute.

Japan has 2,237 banks, with $235,241,231 capital. Five new banks have opened since February.

HOTEL AND CASINO CLOSE

STATUE TO SHERIDAN.

A movement for the erection of a bronze statue of General Philip Sheridan has been started by the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago. The work will be by Charles J. Mulligan, a well known Chicago sculptor, and will be of heroic proportions. The statue will be erected at the head of Sheridan road, and will look out upon the famous drive named for the cavalry commander.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

"THE HOLY CITY."

"The Holy City" will be the attraction at the Opera house tomorrow. Matinee and night at popular prices. Matinee Children 16 cents, adults 25 cents. Evening prices 25, 50, 75 and $1.00.

There [illegible] people as to be dead in earnest. Three years ago, when Clarence Bennett first produced his great and successful play, "The Holy City," ministers were inclined to doubt the propriety or morality of a Bible play on so sacred a subject, some going so far as to brand it unheard, as a sacrilege. But, upon the author's earnest invitation to them to visit it, their denunciations were turned to praise, and they have become its highest eulogists, and often solicit and advise their parishioners to see the play, declaring it the most vivid and lifelike lesson on the life and time of John the Baptist and our Savior that has ever been presented in this country. It is not a tiresome, long drawn out sermon, but a great play, telling a really beautiful heart story. There is no man or woman so depraved but that will bow the head in reverence, when he hears his tiny child lisp "Now I lay me down to sleep!" So it is with this beautiful play. While it does not contain one laugh, the lightest and most frivolous or the most hardened and sinful are held entranced and spellbound. It commands reverence, it does not ask it. Its earnest realism thrills us, whether we will or not.

THIS COUNTY WINS PRIZES

Winning a large number of first prizes and several seconds at the Pueblo state fair, the exhibits from El Paso county were attracted a great deal of attention this week. In addition to the excellent showing made by this county in other entries, the El Paso Red Shorthorn cattle, bought by the county commissioners as an experiment three years ago, walked away with the lion's share of blue ribbons.

Four out of the five cattle entered captured prizes, two firsts and two seconds. A first and a third prize were taken for cows over 3 years old, and a first and a third for cows under 3 years. The county commissioners, together with the stock men of El Paso county are jubilant over the result. The prizes were secured in competition with cattle entered by the State industrial school and also with an entire carload from Des Moines, Ia.

F. W. Hofer of this city, whose entries won the Burns cup and the Association cup at the poultry show in Colorado Springs last winter, exhibited some winners at the State fair. His pen of single comb Black Minorcas took both first and second prizes for pullets and first prize for the entire pen. He sold the five chickens to a Pueblo man for $20.

Members of the El Paso County Horticultural society also captured many prizes. Mrs. W. K. Jewett received nine ribbons for her entries, and her dahlias and gladioli received special mention. Mrs. W. W. Williamson won the first prize for the best general collection of sweet peas, and second for phlox. Dr. J. T. Muir was awarded two seconds and one third for gladioli, dahlias and asters, and W. H. Sherwood won two prizes with his sweet pea entries. Honors were also awarded for floral exhibits by E. B. Pierce of the Colorado State School for the Deaf and the Blind, W. H. Duncan of the Printers [illegible] and William Clark.

RICHEST ORE IN CAMP

LESSEE ON OLD GOLD SHIPPING GOOD ORE.

Runs $60 in Gold to Ton in Carload Lots and Assays Show Ore Worth $200.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—Lessee Parlin, who took a lease a few weeks ago in the Old Gold on the west slope of Beacon hill, and who was fortunate enough to find exceptionally rich ore within a few days after securing the lease, is today sending out another carload, which it is believed will give returns around 10 to 12 ounces. This lease is, perhaps, sending out the richest ore of any mine in the camp at the present time.

Very little information is obtainable, but it is asserted that Mr. Parlin has a vein about three feet wide, which carries any quantity of sylvanite ore, and that there is a streak of from one-half to three inches in width that carries fabulously rich ore. This extremely rich ore is sacked and sent direct to Denver for treatment, and small quantities in 100, 200 and 300-pound lots are said to run $60 in gold to the pound and in some instances even higher.

The balance of the vein matter on either side of the streak is reported to give values in carload lots of from $30 to $300 in gold to the ton. On account of saving the streak separately from the other producing rock, the tonnage is small, but the values being of such an extremely rich grade, Lessee Parlin is making splendid money. There is a story current in the camp that recently Mr. Parlin sent out a small consignment of high-grade sacked ore, that gave gross returns of upwards of $20,000.

OPENS RICH VEIN OF GOLD ORE

Bob Lee Property Makes Splendid Showing at Depth of Twenty-five Feet.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—J. K. Lewis, who is working in a shallow shaft, approximately 25 feet deep, on the Bob Lee property, on Tenderfoot hill, has opened up a vein which is between three and four feet wide and which gives assay returns of about $15 in gold to the ton on the average clear across the shaft. The values are found in the breccia. A peculiarity which, so far as known, does not exist anywhere else in the camp, is the carbonic acid gas, which frequently prevents work. Mr. Lewis undoubtedly has a splendid prospect and is working as regularly as bad air conditions will permit. The indication is that he will have a shipping proposition within a few months if not interrupted too much by foul air.

HAS OPTION ON FORLORN HOPE

Property on Tenderfoot Hill Being Developed by S. W. Vidler and Associates.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—Samuel W. Vidler, a well known newspaper man of the district, has obtained a 30 days prospecting option on the Forlorn Hope claim of the Chicago Gold Mining company on Tenderfoot hill. The deepest workings on this property is a shaft which has been sunk to a depth of 150 in which it is reported a small vein carrying some oxidized ore is to be found. On the dump, the average assays which indicate that the entire dump rock will give returns between $4 and $5 while in the bottom of the shaft these values are reported to be double the above quoted figures. A company will probably be organized to mine the ore and have it treated at the Wisnhope cyanide mill.

CYANIDE MILL FOR TRILBY

Surveys Being Made and Order Has Been Placed on Machinery for New Plant.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—Surveyors went up this morning to the Trilby property on Bull hill and are busy making surveys for the new cyanide mill which is to be erected. The process, which has been decided upon by the Trilby Mines company is that known as the wet process with a roaster in connection, probably a McDougall or Edwards.

The machinery has been ordered with a "hurry up" proviso and the management expects to have the mill in readiness to handle ore by January 1 or perhaps sooner. No expense is to be spared in rushing the plant to completion.

In the meantime the company will resume work in the mine, and the blocking out, breaking down and storing of ore, now in sight, will be done. The Trilby has some exceptionally fine ore, and several sets of lessees had opened up good bodies of ore but were compelled to shut down after the destruction of the Golden Cycle mill.

STOCKS ARE UNSETTLED

WEAKNESS FOLLOWS PERIODS OF STRENGTH.

Low Price of Copper Continues to Be Ruling Factor and Seeling to One of Anxiety.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The unsettlement and irregularity of the stock market continued in evidence today, with the distinction clearly marked between an upward tendency in the railroad stocks and decided depression in the copper stocks, with diminishing sympathetic effect most marked in the other metal stocks, but perceptible also in other industrials. The periods of more aggressive strength in the railroad stocks held up the weak industrials, while the development of acute weakness at other times in the coppers pulled the rest of the list down with them. Trade advices were held to account fundamentally for the condition of the copper securities but there were more or less authentic accounts current also of a strained market position involving heavy speculative holders of the stocks. Reports of the closing out of large loans on which copper stocks figured as collateral received general credence. Anxiety over the trade position was held to account primarily for the discrimination against these loans. The characterization by the Iron Age of copper trade conditions as "utterly demoralized" was regarded as highly impressive. This view of the situation in the trade was confirmed by official information during the day in which sanction was given practically to assertions that a shut down of production in the Montana camps was in contemplation.

Demand was admitted to be so far paralyzed that hardly a pound of the metal was changing hands, and the price at which an effective demand might be developed was acknowledged to be still problematical.

It was stated that banks were unwilling to make further advances against copper to be piled up in this manner with no definite prospect of a market. While information was clear on these points, the extent to which a falling off in the demand for copper products in the various lines of industry was responsible for the situation was vaguely known. The United States Steel stocks showed clearly enough that the condition of the copper trade was arousing anxiety over the iron and steel trade. Immediate advances from that trade were encouraging as to the demand for iron, some recovery having occured from the extreme price concession with a revival of demand. The falling off in output in August was moderate but the decline in weekly output on September was more decided. United States steel touched the low level of the year by a narrow fraction while the coppers widely extended their previous low records for the year. The nature of the liquidation in these stocks gave effect to the rumors which were kept in constant circulation of embarrassment of stock exchange houses.

Liquidation was pronounced heavy for Boston account, the center of copper securities and for Philadelphia account where the slump in the public utilities securities for their city sent a wave of influence into the New York market. Short sales by the bears were an important influence and when they bought to cover the market rallied. The net changes in consequence are comparatively small and give no idea of the violence of the drop from the advance prices of the morning to the depths of the reaction. The tone remained feverish and unsettled at the closing. The local money market meantime continued to relax with the passing of the effect of the bond operations. Copper trade conditions swept all other considerations in the back ground.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value $2,495,000.

United States 2s registered advanced 1-4 per cent on call.

FROST BOOSTS WHEAT

DAMAGE IN CANADA HELPS THE BULLS.

Liverpool Continues Strong and Market Holds Strength Throughout the Day.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Cold weather in the Canadian northwest caused an advance of almost 2 cents in the price of wheat in the local market today. At the close December delivery showed a net gain of 1 1-4@1 3-8, corn up 1-8, oats 1-4 higher and provisions were up 2 1-2 to 5 1-2.

The wheat market opened strong on the failure of the Liverpool market to respond to the 2 cent break here yesterday and reports that the Canadian crop has been seriously damaged by frost. Soon after the opening the bulls were given fresh encouragement by an official forecast of lower temperatures throughout northwestern Canada. Offerings were not large and prices were easily advanced. The principal selling during the day was by small holders while shorts and commission houses bought freely. The close was strong. December opened 1-8 to 1-4 higher at 97 1-2 to 97 7-8 sold between 97 1-4@3-8 and 99 1-4 and closed at 98 5-8@3-4. Clearances of wheat and flour were not available. Primary receipts were 841,000 bushels against 823,000 bushels on the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 443 cars against 362 cars last week and 725 cars a year ago.

Mild weather in the corn belt caused a sharp decline in corn prices early in the day but the loss was regained on buying induced by the strength of wheat and by a forecast of unsettled weather. The market closed firm. December opened a shade higher to a 1-4@3-8 lower at 59 1-8 to 59 1-2, sold off to 58 1-2 and then advanced to 59 3-4. The close was at 59 1-2@5-8. Local receipts were 441 cars, with 207 of contract grade.

Trade in oats was quiet. December opened 1-4 lower at 52 1-2 sold off to 52 1-8 then advanced to 52 7-8@53. The close was at 52 3-4. Local receipts were 230 cars.

Provisions were firm in sympathy with wheat and corn. January pork closed 7 1-2 higher at $15.85. Lard was up 2 1-2c at $8.30. Ribs 2 1-2c@5c higher at $8 1-2@9 1-2.

Furnished by Otis & Hough, bankers and brokers.

This Little Space Is Devoted to Telling Some of the Merits of

The Colorado Springs Creamery Butter

I. It's fresh from the churn every day.

II. It's manufactured right here in Colorado Springs.

III. It weighs 16 ounces to the pound and never shrinks to less.

At this time of year, when so much butter tastes "fishy," just try the fresh. Wholesale and retail.
